Faure Wins First Assembly Ballot On Africa Policy

PARIS, Sunday, Oct. 9 (AP)—Premier Edgar Faure early today won by 521-100 the first in a series of test votes on his Moroccan policy. He seemed to be in position to get a comfortable majority from the National Assembly in support of his program.

In his first vote, the Assembly refused to give first consideration to a Communist resolution. It snowed under the proposal 5-1.

The deputies then voted 360-205 to base their discussion on a Socialist resolution.

This resolution proposed approval of the principal points of the government's program, but expressed regret "that the government, by its hesitations and its weaknesses, has compromised this policy."

The Assembly arranged to vote on the resolution paragraph by paragraph.

Sources favorable to the government said Saturday night Faure seemed to have regained strength after several hours of hard political bargaining.

There still had been no final announcement from the Socialists, the biggest single party in the Assembly. They control 105 of the Assembly's 627 seats.

The Socialists are outside the government coalition, but have talked of abstaining. A Socialist abstention seemed necessary to let Faure squeeze by.

Government backers apparently felt this difficulty had been surmounted.

Faure warned the Assembly that France would lose prestige in the deputies chose a positive policy for the terrorist-ridden protectorate.

Faure was not able to announce any new developments from Rabat, the Moroccan capital, where his new defense minister flew last night to try to speed action on setting up a three-man regency council to replace ousted Sultan Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafa.

Such an announcement might have given him a little longer lease on his office. Since he has been deserted by members of the Social Republican (Gaullist) party, the Premier needs the support, of at least the abstention, of the Socialists. The Socialists some-

Fighting Breaks Out Anew At Site Of Rouen Mutiny

ROUEN, France, Oct. 8 (AP)—New rioting broke out tonight around the Rouen barracks from which draftees had refused to leave for North Africa.

A crowd estimated at more than a thousand battled with riot police and tried to set fire to a wooden barricade closing a breach in the barracks wall.

Riot police, who now occupy the barracks, had to duck their heads behind the walls as stones hurtled at them. They retaliated by hurling stones back and throwing tear gas grenades.

When a group of youths poured gasoline on the wooden barricade, masking a hole in the wall made by an army truck last night, and tried to set it afire, 10 truckloads of riot police were rushed to the scene. They lined up in front of the barricade beneath a barrage of stones.

Bottles filled with gasoline were thrown at the barracks wall. The police drove back the demonstrators, fearing that the flaming bottles might set off a nearby munitions store.

Six arrests were made but there was no immediate report of casualties.

The new outbreak, the third in Rouen in 48 hours, was intended to protest the enforced sending of more troops to North Africa, where the French are fighting Nationalist rebels in both Algeria and Morocco. It was also a demonstration against police occupation of the barracks.

Order was restored in Rouen late tonight. Strong forces of police remained in occupation of the barracks and patrolled the surrounding streets.

President Passes Critical Period; Nixon Pays Visit

DENVER, Oct. 8 (AP)—Vice President Nixon conferred with ailing President Eisenhower today and declared afterward that the chief executive's "recovery has been satisfactory," and that there was no discussion whatever of politics.

The vice president told reporters he gave Eisenhower a report on how the government has been operating in his absence and told him that there is "time to make a complete recovery" and "not rush on account of government business."

The vice president said he avoided any mention of controversial subjects in his 15-minute visit at the bedside on the eighth floor of Fitzsimons Army Hospital.

As for when the chief executive might be able to return to duty in the White House, Nixon said that is something to be asked of the doctors, not him. He said that he had discussed with the physicians the possible time at which the President might be able to check out of the hospital, but that, too, is a matter for the physicians to disclose.

The first question fired at Nixon

British Order Armed Forces Manpower Cut

Demobilization Of 100,000 Based On Outlook For Peace

BOURNEMOUTH, England, Oct. 8—UP—Prime Minister Anthony Eden announced Saturday that Britain will cut its armed forces by 12½ per cent because of the improved outlook for peace.

Eden said 100,000 men and women will be dropped from the armed services by spring of 1958. The British armed forces now number 800,000 men and women.

At the same time, the prime minister announced a "slowdown" in calling up draftees. But he said the two-year draft period would be maintained.

Eden announced the cuts in his first speech as party leader before the annual Conservative party convention here.

A defense ministry spokesman in London said the major share of the cuts would be borne by the army rather than the navy or air force.

Authoritative cabinet sources said NATO had not been consulted in advance about the troop reductions because they will not affect Britain's contribution to the Atlantic Pact forces.

Eden warned, however, that despite the new "spirit of Geneva" he did not necessarily believe that Russia or the other great powers have "changed their purposes." He said they are held in check by the fear of nuclear destruction.

In a sweeping review of British policy before 4,000 cheering Conservatives Eden also warned that Britain faces "formidable" economic problems. He said he will soon announce priority corrective measures to pull Britain out of the near crisis caused by inflation and dollar shortages.

The prime minister also said he was postponing a long-rumored

Plane Disaster

Searching Party Locates Only 51 Bodies At Scene

LARAMIE, Wyo., Oct. 8 (AP)—Recovery parties searching among rugged snow-covered boulders near the peak of 12,005-foot Medicine Bow today were able to find the bodies of only 51 of 66 persons killed in the plane crash there.

The search continued in the crivices and ledges of the sheer face of the mountain where a United Air Lines DC4 crashed Thursday in the nation's worst commercial air disaster. Officials said it probably will be Sunday afternoon before all of the victims are accounted for.

Working alongside the rescuers were investigators of the Civil Aeronautics Board and the UAL seeking to determine why the plane crashed into the mountain which was 25 miles west of its prescribed course.

The evidence gathered from the bits and pieces of the plane scattered over a wide area will be placed before the CAB later in a public hearing.

Only five bodies so far have been removed to a University of Wyoming lodge, six miles below the scene of the crash, which is being used as a temporary morgue.

Eden Warns Risks Grave In Near East Arms Sale

BOURNEMOUTH, England, Oct. 8 (AP)—Prime Minister Eden warned today that any large scale flow of arms from a great power to the Middle East would intensify "grave risks" of an Arab-Israeli war.

Although he named no single power as a source of arms, delegates to the Conservative party conference here understood him to be referring to Russia.

Eden called on the great powers to join in helping curb "the crudest form of arms race" which he said already has broken out between Egypt and Israel. The Prime Minister addressed this appeal to all the major powers, but it was clear he was thinking of Russia when he declared:

"But now, if a great power from the outside steps in with supplies on an infinitely larger scale, the risks are going to be intensified. That is inevitable. Here is, surely, an occasion where the great powers should agree to exercise restraint themselves and to join together to restrain others."

Communist Czechoslovakia, a Soviet satellite, has closed a deal to barter arms to Egypt for cotton. This disclosure by Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser last week touched off Western fears of Soviet penetration in the strategic

At Farmerville

Fred Preaus Day Observance Draws Heavy Attendance

FARMERVILLE, Oct. 8 (Special)—An estimated 3,500 to 4,000 citizens of Union and surrounding parishes crowded into the Farmerville baseball park at 6 p.m. Saturday for a barbecue and 45 minutes of speech making to climax a day long celebration of "Union Parish Fred Preaus Day."

This parish, which last saw a native in the governor's chair 35 years ago, took on a festive appearance early today. Theaters announced free movies, city authorities declared a day of free parking, banners were strung across streets, and adults and youngsters alike sported "I'm for Fred" lapel cards.

Farmerville streets were almost deserted as the townspeople joined with other Union parish residents in the trek to the ball park an hour before the festivities were scheduled to get under way at 6 p.m.

The crowd cheered wildly when Farmerville mayor pro tem John Ramsey concluded his welcoming address with the assertion that "Union parish will have given Louisiana its third native son governor when the votes are counted." He explained that this parish has furnished the state two of its most illustrious chief executives in W.

Richard M. Ware Enters Race For Representative

Richard M. (Dick) Ware, of West Monroe, Saturday announced that he will be a candidate for state representative from Ouachita parish in the January 17 Democratic primary.

Ware, who lives at 116 Patton Street, West Monroe, is a real estate broker. He is married to the former Dixie Madden and has one son, Richard M. Ware, Jr.

The new candidate is a member of the West Monroe Lions club and McGuire Methodist Church. He is a graduate of Louisiana Tech and during World War Two was a pilot.

In making his first announcement, Ware said, "My purpose in running for the office of state representative is to represent fairly and conscientiously all of the people of Ouachita parish. In doing so, I will be an active and attentive member of the legislature and at all times I will bear in mind that election to such a high office is a grave trust and responsibility."

He said that he would announce a full campaign platform at a later date.

Generally Fair Today, Monday

According to last night's government weather bureau forecast, Louisiana is expected to be generally fair and warmer today and Monday. However, considerable cloudiness is predicted for the extreme southeast portion of the state.

Civil Aeronautics Administration officials at the Selman Field station last night reported that the high in the Twin Cities yesterday was 75 degrees. The low for the day was 53 degrees.

Five Killed In Head-On Crash Of Two Trains

Passenger And Freight Collide On Blind Curve

HAZLEHURST, Ga., Oct. 8 (AP)— Five trainmen were killed and 13 persons injured today in a headon collision between a Southern Railway passenger train and a freight train on a blind curve in a deep draw near this southeast Georgia city.

The engines telescoped and were demolished, according to State Sen. Lawton R. Ursrey of Hazlehurst, one of the first to reach the scene three miles northwest of Hazlehurst.

State Patrol Trooper C. L. Everett said three freight cars and a baggage car on the passenger train piled into the tangled wreckage of the two engines. The two passenger cars and the remaining freight cars stayed on the single track.

Killed on the freight train were W. D. Sharpe, Jesup, Ga., engineer; C. M. (Rib) Peel, Roberta, Ga., conductor; and J. E. Hancock, Macon, Ga., trainman.

Passenger train crewmembers killed were Newt G.Askew, Macon, engineer; and B. J. Johnson, Macon, fireman.

Six of the injured were trainmen. None of the injured were seriously hurt.

H. W. Bodurant, Southern Railway vice president, said passenger train No. 27, a local from Macon to Brunswick, Ga., collided with a northbound freight. Cause of the accident was not determined immediately.

Expulsion Threat

Peron Warned To Abide By Asylum Rule In Paraguay

ASUNCION, Paraguay, Oct. 8 (AP)—Paraguay announced today it would expel Juan D. Peron, Argentina's fallen dictator, if he violated the conditions of his political asylum.

A reply to Argentina's protest against statements attributed to Peron after his arrival here to live in exile indicated Paraguayan authorities would intern the one-time strongman if asked by the Buenos Aires government.

The immediate cause of the new Argentine provisional government's anger was a reported remark to a reporter last Sunday that he still considers himself Argentina's constitutional president. Argentina then demanded Peron be ousted from this country and made to get off the continent entirely.

(Foreign Office circles in Buenos Aires expressed satisfaction with the Paraguayan reply. They said the official text had not arrived Saturday night but the contents became known through press reports).

Paraguayan Foreign Minister Hipolito Sanchez Quell said the

FROM DEATH SENTENCE TO FREEDOM—Joseph L. Taborsky, 31, and his mother are in joyful embrace at Hartford, Conn., after he was cleared of a death sentence that had been hanging over him for four years. In 1951 he was sentenced to die in the electric chair for the fatal shooting of a liquor store owner in a holdup attempt. Taborsky insisted he was innocent. He was convicted on the testimony of his brother, Albert, 29. Later Albert was declared insane. This won Joseph a new trial in which the state dropped prosecution and the court ordered him freed. Hitler's Personal Pilot Returns From Red Prison; Confirms Dictator's Death

CAMP FRIEDLAND, Germany, Oct. 8 (AP)—Hitler's personal pilot, Gen. Hans Baur, returned tonight from 10 years of Soviet imprisonment and said "I can confirm that Hitler and Eva Braun are dead."

Baur's testimony may be vital in the new German government effort to declare Hitler legally a suicide. Litigation over property disposal and other matters are awaiting that declaration.

An officer of the S. S. (Elite Guard), Baur was with Hitler in the last hours in his Berlin bunker, as Soviet divisions closed in on the capital.

Though Baur affirmed that both the Fuehrer and his bride were dead, he said he did not see their bodies.

He was one of 32 former German high officers returned to their homeland tonight.

Baur's remark puzzled hearers. Some took it to mean that he merely didn't see Hitler's body after the suicide.

Baur was limping when he walked away from the train that returned his POW group from Russia. It was reported that he lost a leg in an accident.

Baur is one of the few surviving Hitler aides who remained with the Fuehrer in the bunker to the bitter end—April 30, 1945. That was the day that Hitler and his bride, Eva Braun, killed themselves—he by firing a bullet into his mouth and she by swallowing poison.

Baur was one of 32 high German officers arriving here tonight after being held prisoners by the Russians for more than 10 years.

Thursday and Friday 52 generals, two admirals and three leading military engineers returned from Soviet prisons under the Opening Of Fair To Public Reset For Late Tuesday

Because of an unusually heavy rush of agricultural exhibit entries in the Ouachita Valley Fair in West Monroe, official opening of the gates to the general public has been rescheduled for Tuesday afternoon instead of Monday.

This was announced late yesterday by fair secretary - manager

John Birdsong, who said that all departments of the exposition will be open to the public at 4 p.m. Tuesday, including the carnival attractions.

Deadline for entries will be 7 p.m. Monday, and judging work will be handled on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Birdsong said that an abundance of crops entries, as well as home economics and commercial exhibits, made it necessary to provide aditional display facilities in two of the fair buildings.

"The way I see it now," he observed, "the main agricultural building will be overflowing with exhibits which can not be arranged and judged before 4 p.m. Tuesday."

After 10 Years In Red Prisons

First Group Of Ordinary German Soldiers Return

BERLIN, Oct. 8—UP—The first group of ordinary soldiers released from Russian prison camps arrived here unexpectedly Saturday night.

They immediately pleaded with West German officials to help some 500 others they said were being held in Communist East Germany against their will.

About 100 Germans arrived at West Berlin's zoo station 20 minutes after the German Red Cross received its first notice that they were coming. They said they were part of a shipment of about 600 men who arrived in Frankfurt on the Oder from Russian prison camps Saturday.

About 500 men who came with them from camps beyond the Ural mountains demanded that Communist East German authorities turn them over to West Germany, the returnees said.

They said their fellow prisoners revolted at the news that they would be resettled in the Communist portion of the divided nation.

The first big shipment was about the same size as the group of returnees expected early Sunday at Herleshausen, the crossing point into West Germany. Authorities here believed the two groups were different.

Three groups of generals and other high officers who passed through Herleshausen in the past three days reported several freight trains loaded with amnestied German soldiers en route home.

Altogether, Russia promised to release 9,626 war prisoners to East and West German authorities. But nothing was said in the agreement about heeding the desires of the men themselves.

The agreement merely stated that those who lived in the west would go there and men with homes in East Germany would be repatriated there.

Officials Seek New Church For Durant Pastor

KOSCIUSKO, Miss., Oct. 8 (AP)—Presbyterian Church officials were looking for a new church for a Durant pastor under fire from his elders in a segregation dispute.

The Rev. Erskin Jackson said his commission advised the Rev. Marsh Callaway to resign and said, "there is a move underfoot to find him another place."

The Rev. Mr. Jackson is chairman of the Central Mississippi Presbytery Commission on the minister and his work. He said the commission's action and advice were not official.

The Rev. Mr. Callaway was not available for comment.

He aparently had angered his elders by attending a meeting at Tchula of 400 white citizens two weeks ago and questioning the legal procedure which led to their asking two white men to leave in "the best interests of (Holmes) county."

Diplomats See Retirement Of Old Bolshevik

Retracts Parts Of Speech Made When Malenkov Ousted

MOSCOW, Oct. 8 —UP—Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov confessed Saturday that he had committed a "theoretically mistaken and political harmful" blunder by understating the extent of Russia's socialistic progress.

The 65-year-old foreign minister, one of the last of the "old Bolsheviks" to survive the Stalin era, made his confession in a letter published in the magazine "Communist," which is the official theoretical organ of the Communist party.

(In Washington, diplomats predicted that Molotov will bow out soon. Some diplomatic quarters said Molotov's "resignation" may come at the Communist party congress next February. There was also some feeling he will step down before then.)

In a speech last February when Georgi M. Malenkov was fired as premier, Molotov said that "the foundation of a socialist society has already been built" in this Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

"This mistaken formulation leads to the incorrect conclusion that allegedly a socialist society has not yet been created in the Soviet Union," Moltov said, "that only the foundations of a socialist society have been built."

Actually, he said in his letter, it had been stated in 1932 that the foundations had been completed and further successes in building socialism have brought the Soviet Union to a new state of development.

This new state of development, Molotov said, is that of gradual transition to a Communist society.

(The Communist conception is that the Soviet Union is now a socialist community. This first stage is to be followed by evolution into a fully Communist one.)

Diplomatic circles at once recalled the rumors which swept Europe several months ago that Molotov might resign.

It was recalled that during the Vienna conference last May Molotov told the Western foreign ministers that it was "time for younger blood" in the Kremlin. He explained to foreign correspondents after his return to Moscow that he was only joking.

Molotov's letter was dated Sept. 16, just before he went to New York to attend the opening of the United Nations annual General Assembly. The magazine went to press Sept. 30 and was distributed publicly Saturday.

Democrats Brand Lee's Action As 3rd Party Threat

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 8—UP—Utah Democrats charged Saturday night that Republican Gov. J. Bracken Lee was refusing to pay federal income taxes as a "stepping stone" toward formation of a third party.

The outspoken chief executive insisted he was going to put taxes due next April in escrow, rather than pay them, in an attempt to secure a Supreme Court test of the government's right to use tax money for foreign aid.

The Democratic State Central committee, during a spirited meeting Saturday afternoon, adopted a resolution asking Lee to pay the taxes or resign.

LSU Supervisors Study Alexandria's Threat To Take A&M From Campus

BATON ROUGE, Oct. 8 (AP)—The La. State University Board of Supervisors decided today to look into the future of the Vocational Agriculture School near Alexandria, a thorny problem for a number of years.

The action came during consideration of a proposal to establish a poultry diagnostic laboratory at the school.

Member J. Stewart Slack of Shreveport objected. "I know exactly what they're trying to do," he said. "They want to move the A&M up there. And each addition to the vocational agriculture school puts their foot further in the door."

A bill to transfer the agricultural and mechnical division of the university to the Alexandria area, on the site of the LSU Vocational Agriculture School, died on the house floor during the 1955 Legislature.

Member James McLemore of Alexandria insisted the poultry disgnostic laboratory served a useful purpose. He was supported by president Troy Middleton, who added it would also further the university's program.

The board finally approved a poultry diagnostic center. The $26,000 required for the facilities will be sought by area leaders from the Board of Liquidation of State Debt.

LSU will furnish utilities and $1,000 yearly for the salary of a veterinarian.

But the board also approved a motion by Mrs. Margaret Dixon of Baton Rouge to name a committee "to look into the function and plans for development at the School of Vocational Agriculture and to come up with recommendations on the subject."

The school was built when Alexandria citizens said they would prefer a vocational agriculture school instead of a trade school because Alexandria was in a rural area. Attendance has been below expectation.

Dr. Daniel Porth, LSU comptroller, reported LSU had turned $66,737 back to the state general fund unspent from operating funds for the 1954-55 school year.

He said more than $18,000 of the total came from individual grants, mostly to agricultural projects, that were not completely spent.

But he added that more than $44,000 came from the University's general support fund.

"The needs of the university are such that we could have used that money had we known it was available," he added.

He promised to tighten up this year and keep a closer check on departmental spending.

In other action, the board:

1. Accepted $225,657 in grants and gifts.
2. Approved plans for the new three and one-half million dollar library.
3. Made plans to transfer all branches of the university library into the new building when completed.
4. Approved a proposed lease of the university lake, near the LSU campus for development by the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries Commission.
5. Received a report that LSU's total enrollment for the fall term in all branches had topped the 10,000 mark.

Circus Goes Into Court In Demand For Show Permit

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 8—UP—Ringling Bros., Barnum and Bailey circus officials will ask a civil district court judge Monday to order the city of New Orleans to issue a permit for the appearance of the circus here Oct. 21-23.

The permit was turned down because the date conflicts with the Shrine circus.

Mayor Chep Morrison said a commercial circus should not be held here within a 30-day period of a benefit circus.

Paul Eagles, general executive of the circus, disagreed.

"In the 85 years we have been in business, there hsa never been any objection like this anywhere," he said.

40 And 8 Delays Secession From American Legion

MIAMI, Oct. 8—UP—The governing board of 40 and 8, the American Legion's French-flavored, funloving group, branded the parent organization "dictators" Saturday but put off for a year a decision on secession.

The 200 members of the governing board shouted down a quick move to secede from the Legion. They adopted a substitute motion which postpones the split for at least a year.

The action will be taken before the 40 and 8's full convention which opens at 2 p. m. Sunday—one day ahead of the big American Legion convention.

The governing board sat quietly while the long resolution adopted by the 40 and 8's executive committee last June was read. The resolution asked that the 18-year-old tieup with the American Legion end and both groups go "our separate ways."

"We are honorable men who can endure no more," the resolution said, charging that a small group of "American Legion dictators" had seized power and retained it through the use of the legion's fund and job patronage.

But a chorus of "nos" from the noisy delegates greeted the motion for adoption. One member shouted, "a thousand times no."

Delegate Jack Cusak of Chicago rose immediately and offered a substitute resolution commending the 40 and 8's executive committee for its report on the "strained" relations of the two groups but asked that the recommendation for secession from the Legion be deferred.

Cusak's resolution was adopted by voice vote. There were no dissenting votes. The resolution asks that Commander J. Earl Simpson of the 40 and 8 and the American Legion's national commander appoint three-man committees for each group to investigate the "situation together and separately and report back to the 1956 conventions of both organizations."

The adopted report also asked that the committees' recommendations be voted on at the 1056 convention, which will be held in Los Angeles.

The issue of doing away with the color line of the all-white 40 and 8 was not brought up before the governing board.

Skeleton Found At Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 8 (AP)—The skeleton of a man who presumably died last January was found today behind a signboard at Sixth and Charlotte streets in downtown Kansas City.

A billfold found in the trousers indicated the man was William R. Ashworthy of New Orleans, deputy coroner Joe Conners said. Other papers in the wallet indicated he had been a track worker for the Milwaukee Railroad.

A neatly rolled up copy of the Kansas City Star was found by the skeleton. It bore the date, January 28, 1955.

Grains Show Few Changes In Week

CHICAGO, Oct. 8 (AP) — Grains wound up with small price changes on the Board of Trade this week and there wasn't any definite trend applicable to the entire list.

The best advance was scored by December rye, up 4 cents. Its gain reflected some short covering in sympathy with advancing prices at Winnipeg. Largest loss was in July wheat, down 4¼ cents. Its loss reflected rains in the Southwestern winter wheat area.

Wheat closed 4¼ lower to 1⅛ higher for the week, corn ½ to 1 cent lower, oats ⅛-⅝ higher, rye 1½ to 4 cents higher, soybeans ¼-1¼ higher and lard 7 cents lower to 25 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Cotton Futures Sag Under Drive Of Heavy Selling

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (AP)—The cotton futures market sagged this week under the impact of heavy selling triggered by private forecasts of a much bigger-than-expected crop.

The biggest fumble occurred at the start of the week when most contracts broke the full daily trading limit of $10 a bale. From there on, an irregular recovery movement set in, but only the nearer months benefitted from it and they failed to regain all the ground lost.

Closing prices Friday on the New York Cotton Exchange showed net losses for the week ranging from 55 cents to $9.45 a bale.

Monday's sharp sell-off came after traders scanned a new batch of private crop forecasts. All predicted a sharp increase in the government's next official forecast due on Monday—in some cases the private estimates were as much as 1,400,000 bales higher than the Agriculture Department's September forecast of 12,873,000.

Lowest of the private forecasts was 13,200,000 bales; highest was nearly 14,300,000 bales.

Futures were also depressed this week by the continued lag in cotton exports. Exports for the week ended Tuesday were estimated by the New York Cotton Exchange at 28,000 bales vs. 31,000 a week ago and 40,000 a year ago. Total for the season to date was estimated at 225,000 bales vs. 410,000 a year earlier.

More Funds Needed For Old River Job

BATON ROUGE, Oct. 8 (AP)—Louisiana's director of Public Works said today more money must be provided if the Old River closure project, designed to prevent capture of the Mississippi River by the Atchafalaya, is to be completed on schedule.

Calvin T. Watts told the Mississippi River Commission the $2,500,000 available for the 1956 fiscal year was less than one-third the average annual appropriation required to finish the project by 1965.

He called for "at least eight million dollars" for fiscal 1957. The total project will cost an estimated 80 million.

Brig. Gen. John R. Hardin, commission president, presided at the meeting here.

WALTER CHACHERE

Crowville Man Enters Campaign For State House

WINNSBORO, Oct. 8 (Special)—Walter A. Chachere, prominent citizen of Crowvill e,has announced as a candidate for the office of representative for Franklin parish, subject to the action of democratic primary, January 17, 1956.

In making his announcement Chachere stated:

"The only promise I can make is to do my very best with a determination to see that Franklin parish is well represented. I feel that with my many contacts in Baton Rouge and other points of the state, and with the experience I have gained in the past, I can and will represent Franklin parish with dignity and prestige.

"I will work and fight for better roads, better equalization of gravel and road funds, based on mileage as well as population. I will also work for a better system of determination for the aged, cripples and orphans (with Welfare Dept.). Much can be done in this field.

"I promise to follow the mandate of the people in approving the program of whatever governor is elected as I feel that whoever is elected governor, a mandate is given him by the voters of the state to carry out his platform. I promise not to dictate to the voters as to who to vote for, and I will take no part in the election of any candidate now running for office. I promise to work in harmony with all elected officials and bodies and to meet with them at any time for anything that would be of benefit to Franklin Parish, the State of Louisiana or our country."

Chachere was born in Lafayette, La., 57 years ago and attended school in New Orleans and Alexandria. He attended Little Rock College of Little Rock, Ark., and later did some special work at Southwestern Louisiana Institute at Lafayette, La.

He entered the U. S Army on June 25, 1916, with the Arkansas National Guard and saw service on the Mexican border, and later with the famous Third (Marne) Division and was discharged Aug. 19, 1922, as Sergeant Major of Third Division. The candidate is well known in American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars circles, holding district as well as state chairmanships in these organizations. He is the originator of the $1,000 school award and first state chairman of the VFW school award. He is currently serving his 15th term as Commander of the American Legion post at Crowville and is very active in school athletic activities of Crowville High School.

Besides being associated with the above organizations Chachere teaches Sunday School at the Crowville Baptist Church, as he has done for the past years, and is active in other church and charitable works.

The conference will be conducted by some of the nation's most qualified doctors and personell in the field of cerebral palsy. Courses will be taught during the conference as well as scheduled lectures.

Dr. Hammonds and Dr. Foster are attending the conference under the sponsorship of the Northeast Louisiana Cerebral Palsy Association. Canedo is being sent by the Altrusa Club, women's civic organization.

Dental Assistants To Take Up Study

The Monroe Dental Assistants association will begin a 104-hour Study Course on Thursday, October 13. Classes will be held on Thursday night of each week at 7:30 o'clock in the Science building at Northeast State college. All dental assistants in the Fifth district are eligible to enroll. Instructors will be dentists from Fifth District society. No tuition fee is required.

Training the dental assistant was for many years confined to the efforts of the individual employer dentists, and it is only within the past few years that recognized courses of study have been established. Because of the need for uniform training, the American Dental Assistants association has sponsored a National Certified board, and a basic study course has been set up. After completion of this course, the dental assistant is then eligible for certification examination, and the "Certified Dental Assistant" is nationally recognized.

Dr. S. A. Collins and Dr. William C. Epstein, were appointed co-chair man of an Education committee to work out the schedule of lectures for this course. Any dental assistant who wishes to enroll in this course may contact this committee.

The Moral Rearmament Statesmen's Mission

The Moral Rearmament Statesmen's Mission, embracing 198 men and women from 28 nations and five continents, including many famous persons, has enjoyed a sensational success in its 1955 world tour presenting its new idealogical play, The Vanishing Island.

This mission went abroad with a letter of commendation from Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn, Majority Leader John McCormack and Minority Leader Joseph W. Martin, Jr., addressed to the heads of state in all host nations, which said:

"As members of the United States Congress, we recognize the great significance of the Moral Rearmament Mission now traveling to and through the principal capitals of Asia, North Africa and the Middle East with the musical play, The Vanishing Island, which dramatizes the central struggle of our time. The play was witnessed in Washington by overflow audiences, including key administration, political, and military leaders.

"The principles that moral rearmament represent, which are basic to all people who desire freedom, can be a decisive factor for the whole world when applied by men and women of all races, all creeds, and in all walks of life. We heartily commend this mission to you and your people."

A group of Asian and African leaders had prepared a statement following the World Assembly for Moral Rearmament in Washington last January, which said: "Moral rearmament points the way to achieve a constructive cooperation which none need fear and which can benefit all mankind."

At the historic Asia-Africa conference held in Bandung last April, Dr. Fadhil Mamali, leader of the Iraqi delegation, made an eloquent appeal for East-West cooperation on the basis of the moral rearmament movement.

As the first stop on its tour, the mission visited Hawaii and presented its play to an overflow audience. Walter Dillingham, one of the leading businessmen of Hawaii, stated: "A great gift has been made to the people of Honolulu. It is the only thing I have ever heard that has any chance of revolutionizing the thinking of the world."

In Japan, Prime Minister Hatoyama said at the reception honoring the mission: "This has been the most memorable moment of my life." Newly elected Liberal Party chieftain Ogata stated: "This is something we have never seen before. The problem in the world is division. The only answer is unity. MRA is the agency that is going to bring it."

The highly influential Nippon Times said editorially:

"In Japan we have need for this ideology of MRA. Hatred, bitterness, jealousy, and greed have permeated deep into the hearts of too many of our people. We need to clean out the dregs which have poisoned our spirits and made us chase after false values and ideologies. The coming of the MRA task force is an opportunity for all of us to do some serious soul searching and above all let there be no hypocrites among us."

President and Madam Chiang Kai-shek received the mission in Taipei, on Formosa, and the Generalissimo said: "Moral rearmament is providing the world with idealogical leadership. It is the most important form of aid we have ever received. Your Mission has created a great impression not only throughout this nation but also on the Communist mainland."

A delegation from the Mission visited Seoul, where it's objectives were praised by high officials of the Republic of Korea.

A noted American Catholic layman, Joseph Scott of Los Angeles, led the Mission when it arrived in the Philippines. Eulogio Rodriguez, President of the Senate, said in a welcoming address, "The hope of a turbulent Asia lies in such a force." The influential congressmen Rosseller T. Lim stated: "The coming of this Mission at this time is the beginning of a tidal wave of change in the nations of Asia. I have decided to live MRA and with God's help I hope to give the rest of my life to it."

The Mission visited Singapore, and conferred with spokesmen of the rival Malay and Chinese political parties, chamber of commerce and trade-union heads, and all other main elements.

It went to South Vietnam, torn in the wake of bitter warfare and facing the crucial 1956 deadline when it must vote for or against the Communist-ruled north. President Ngo Dinh Diem declared, "You are carriers of a noble ideal and powerful advocates of this ideal—I would even say of a vast movement for the unity of men and nations . . ."

Equally eloquent praise of the Mission's work and its dramatic presentation was given by high officials of Thailand, Burma, Ceylon, India, Pakistan, Iran, Egypt, Iraq, Kenya, Turkey and other nations. This praise was voiced by persons high in the councils of every prominent religion. As an instance, in Thailand, breaking a hitherto inviolate rule against attendance at theatrical performances, 15 members of the supreme Buddhist Council, including its president, attended the showing of The Vanishing Island. The President of the Council said: "MRA has the same purpose for righteousness as the Lord Buddha. The ability of MRA to change men is proof that MRA has the power to unite the world."

Prime Minister Hussein Ala of Iran stated, "The Korean and Islam sponsor and favor Moral Rearmament. You are showing the world how to put aside the old ideas of 19th Century imperialism from which we have suffered in the Middle East and replace them with moral standards which are universal. . . ."

In Instanbul, the ecumenical patriarch, Athenagoras I, head of the 250 million Christians of the Greek Orthodox Church, declared: "Moral Rearmament is the agency which is bringing a new world to birth. . . . Yours is a modern apostolic mission. You have found the secret of life."

Moral Rearmament embodies a sublimely simple but powerful ideal—to make over the world by making over the individual, according to the precepts of the Golden Rule.

The record of its 1955 pilgrimage, which can be told only in brief within the compass of an article such as this, is thrilling; and it reveals very clearly the tremendous world-wide yearning for ordered spiritual life, and for love and trust and confidence between all men and all nations.

A British orator refers to pot-bellied Americans. We are generous feeders for a fact. So were the British when they had it.

Slander Suits

Vienna, La.

Editor, Morning World:

In regard to all the slander suits that have been served on the citizens of the Ransom community and being the mother of one of the defendants I would like to say this publicly if you will be so kind as to print it. Mrs. Tina G. Clark should not be suing all these people for slander, the one that she should really sue is people like myself. The parents are responsible for what our children have done because somewhere along the line we got the mistaken idea that ours was a free country and that we had freedom of speech. We taught our children that it was their right as American citizens to exercise their rights and they had a right to petition any public official that was being paid a salary with the taxpayers money. Our American government has been petitioned at various times because people felt like they had a right to do so, which they did, and which I hope they will always have, because our wonderful form of government is made up of, by and for the people.

As a citizen, a taxpayer for many years in our State of Louisiana, I cannot help but wonder where the Ouachita Parish School Board stands on such things as this, they are elected by the people to serve the people and Mrs. Clark is in their employ. Why can't they issue some kind of a statement to the public and explain to the taxpayers the procedure they have followed in paying Mrs. Clark $4800.00 a year of the taxpayers money to sit at home.

Please withhold my name to this letter because I am old and all the extra money will have to go to help my daughter pay her attorney fees and I do not want to get sued.

The Rich Land

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I would like to thank you for your very timely and excellent editorial Wenesday (Sept. 28) concerning "Our Farms Are Industrialists". At this time when MAIDO is so anxiously trying to secure industries, why don't they use their energy and ability to help the farmers of Ouachita Parish? From where I stand we have all the material wealth we need — our business is good, our shops are full and our city is having a struggle in caring for its present population.

We do not need factories to take away our labor, to destroy our rich lands and to fill our river, that we use for irrigation, with factory pollution.

The land you have been offered is not conducive to building a factory. It should be used for raising stalks of cotton or to graze cattle.

Give your money and your efforts to aid your farmers in soil conservation; in maintaining grass lands and for insect control.

I am sure you would find it more soul satisfying and more lucrative in the long run. Lend our people a helping hand — please do not bite the hand that feeds you

Careless Name Calling

Baton Rouge, La.

Editor, Morning World:

As a student of government I have followed with much interest the various writings on the problem of segregation I have been particularly interested in the many letters Mr. Thomas A. Hilton of Ruston, has written you on the subject. I hold Mr. Hilton in very high esteem for his unending displays of public spirit and civic mindedness; more of us should follow his example, but I fear he has a somewhat biased opinion on the matter.

He, undoubtedly, believes that the Negro is somewhat inferior to the white. I do not care to contest this belief because the right of free speech is one of the basic freedoms assured in Article 1 of the Constitution. However, I notice that Mr. Hilton has a tendency to label everything which proves contrary to his beliefs about racial differences as being influenced by Communists. I have no doubts that the Communist party has tried numerous times to incite friction between different factors in the country, but I believe we should have definite proof of guilt before we resort to 'name calling'.

In case Mr. Hilton or anyone else happens to get the wrong idea, there is probably no one in our country today who bears as much hatred for Communism and what it stands for as I do, for it's (Communism's) unforgivable injustices have caused the deaths of several relatives and friends very dear to me. Although I see it as our country's most dangerous enemy, I do not see any reason for confusing the minds of those around us by labeling acts antagonistic to our own beliefs as being Communist inspired. This only tends to give the mass of the American public a clouded opinion of what this terrible, formible enemy really is. I believe it is better to tackle problems of this sort with an open mind rather than trying to excite the fury of the masses by careless 'name-calling!'

Russians Pray For Ike

Ruston, La.

Editor, Morning World:

No doubt the Russians were sincere in their prayers for Pres. Eisenhower's recovery. They had sound reasons for these prayers. When Mr. Eisenhower made his speech at the Geneva conference he called upon the Soviet leaders to free the people behind the Iron Curtain. The three Russian leaders, sitting before him with masked smiles, seemed not to hear him but through the Voice of America, 800 million people did.

Yes, those people heard him. They heard the most powerful man on earth calling for their freedom, something no man in either Britain or France had ever done. And when they heard Mr. Eisenhower was sick they got on their knees and prayed for him, prayed to a real God and not Bulganin, a Soviet crime that may send them to a concentration camp.

How lucky we are to have a king like Mr. Eisenhower, a man we love and can pray for in deep ernest without fear of going to jail. We the people can only wait and see what God is going to do with this great man. Will he release his powers and step down for Vice President Nixon?

As yet we do not know much of Vice President Nixon but his personal letter to the editor of the Monroe Morning World, published last Sunday, makes it evident that he is anxious to be friendly with the south.

Dispute Splits American Legion

WASHINGTON — A major policy split within the nation's largest veterans organization is causing plenty of internal fireworks, but officials hope the schism will not sap the group's lobbying and political strength in 1956.

The group in question is the American Legion, and the internal dispute concerns the Legion's official censure of the United Nations Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization. Top Legionnaires admitted the fight could shake Legion solidarity.

They hope, however, to settle the dispute within top policy echelons, before it spills over to set the rank and file squabbling.

At issue is the so-called "Murphy Report" on UNESCO. Prepared by a special Legion committee directed by Ray Murphy, former national commander from Iowa, the study dismisses as "utterly without foundation" charges that UNESCO is communistic.

This opinion conflicts with the Legion's official stand that Communists "are using UNESCO to corrupt the minds of our children." The dispute has been simmering ever since the Murphy Report was completed in 1954. The State Department had suggested that the Legion appoint a representative to UNESCO. Instead, the Legion set up the Murphy committee to study UNESCO.

No matter what action the Legion takes on UNESCO at its annual convention in Miami Oct. 10-13, the debate probably will continue.

The Murphy Report brings into focus a basic question of international policy within the Legion. The group's stand on foreign affairs has followed a somewhat zig-zag course over the years. Legionnaires opposed U. S. participation in the League of Nations and backed the Bricker treaty-powers amendment, but they endorsed the Marshal Plan, NATO, and aid to Greece and Turkey.

UNESCO "is not atheistic or communistic . . . (or) favorable toward world government," the Murphy Report held, and urged acceptance of UNESCO and the UN as "facts of life." The Report therefore was considered a boost for "internationalist" elements in the Legion.

As some see the Report, however, its significance goes beyond the field of foreign policy. They wonder if it is indicative of further basic policy splits within the organization.

According to this viewpoint, the proportion of veterans in the U.S. population is growing so rapidly that their lobby groups must inevitably devote more attention to such non-veteran policy matters as UNESCO. They maintain that official Legion positions must be thrashed out on a widening range of highly controversial topics, both domestic and foreign.

Right now, for example, the national Legion and its auxiliary, the Forty and Eight Society, are divided over the issue of segregation. The Society's constitutional exclusion of colored members has been challenged in the national body. Last May, resolutions were adopted by the executive unit of Forty and Eight recommending withdrawal from the Legion.

Conflict also is known to exist over proposals, offered by several state Legion units, to place the group on record in favor of pulling the U. S. out of the UN. And Legionnaires are finding it hard to agree how much aid the government should give veterans as a general pension.

Top Legion officials emphasize that such policy splits are nothing new. They point to the cleavage in the 1920's over the veterans' bonus, as well as internal friction early in world war II over the military draft and the lease of destroyers to Britain.

Despite these splits, the Legion has grown into the nation's largest —and, according to many — most powerful veterans' lobby. Although it is officially "non-political," parties and candidates are eager to win its approval. And the importance of Legion pressure in shaping legislation is taken for granted in Washington.

With claimed membership of 2,780,018, the Legion is a vital factor in community and national life. Few Legionnaires believe the group's strength will be quickly or easily jeopardized by policy splits.

At the same time, however, they concede that bitter internal debates may affect future Legion policy. The outcome of these clashes, they add, could influence the political life and foreign policy of the nation itself.

A total of 49,336 state veterans belong to the Legion. The number includes Gov. Robert F. Kennon, Sens. Allen Ellender and Russell Long and Rep. Otto E. Passman.

Legion membership totals 2,780,018 nationally. Strength ranges from 268,157 members in Pennsylvania to 3,945 in Nevada. Legion rolls include a total of 33 governors, 59 Senators, and 240 Representatives.

Lights Over Broadway

George Jean Nathan, dean of dramatic critics, was criticized by The Authors' League for running his opinion of a new play the day before asbestos - time . . . He shrugged: It is a published book, . . . sold in the shops . . . Mr. Nathan has often printed his pre - opening night opinions. (After studying the scripts, Sean O'Casey's and Eugene O'Neill's, frixample) . . . The late Alexander Woollcott astonished Broadway producers when he ran his notice on O'Neill's "Strange Interlude" the night before it opened . . . We told Mr. Nathan that actors wouldn't love him if he kept that up . . . "The trouble with you," he replied, "is that you believe actors have feelings . . . Actors are only interested in their vanity" . . . We asked critic John Chapman what he thought should be done about Nathan's incorrigibility . . . This led to a controversy before the curtain lifted on "Island of Goats" . . . Chapman offered Percy Hammond's crack: "Never praise actors, they'll despise you!" . . . We told Mr. Chapman the line was: "Never be nice to an actor. It'll bite you!" . . .

Will authorities on the subject enlighten us both?

Playwright Arthur Miller's introduction to his "A View from the Bridge" offers this profound Goldwynism: "The two plays printed here were written because they were written" . . Dana Wynter's real first name is Dagmar . . . Lucy & Desi and Jimmy Stewart (all money-mad) flew to Hollywood — rejecting front pews to the 7th game — the most dramatic of the Series . . . In the October Modern Screen's Question & Answer page: "Q: Warner Brothers, I am told, objects strenuously to James Dean's auto racing. Does he plan to give it up?—S. J. (El Paso)" . . . Whom Are We Fooling?

Next in the parade of Russian visitors to the United States after this delegation of "housing officials" will come a delegation of "newspaper officials."

Actually, they'll be contractors and reporters and-or espionage agents, but we call them "officials."

Why?

Because as "officials" they can get into the United States without being fingerprinted.

Congress, through the McCarran-Walter Act, thought it had afforded us some protection from the procession of alien subversives who drift nonchalantly in and out of our ports, but our State Department, classing these as "officials," is circumventing that act and thumbing its nose at the elected representatives of the people.

We even admitted Emil Gilels, a Soviet concert pianist, into the United States on Sept. 29 by this backdoor.

We granted him the status of "official of the Soviet Government." He was not fingerprinted. In mid - October, Russian violinist David Oistrakh will be welcomed into our midst as an "official."

Under the immigration law, we do not fingerprint "officials."

Whom are we fooling by this deception?

It is entirely possible that a security system can go to extremes. It's the difference between the chap who looks under the bed and the neurotic who tears the bed apart.

For some years Britain has looked upon United States security methods as a manifestation of immaturity.

Now, however, a scandalous British White Paper admits that in 1951 two employees of the British Foreign Office, who were suspects for five years, mysteriously disappeared behind the Iron Curtain, their briefcases bulging with secrets.

Present evidence supports the suspicion that these two led the Chinese to invade Korea and cost us an extra fifteen billion dollars and an additional hundred thousand American casualties!

It was British negligence (combined with considerable of our own) which set the stage for the theft of early atom secrets.

The British can afford to be unconcerned as long as they are spending mostly our secrets and our lives.

And, yet, at this moment, there is a concerted effort by some esteemed Americans to get us to follow the British lead and to liquidate our own government's security program.

Our FBI is being charged with "denying civil rights." Our Immigration Service is said to be "Fascist - minded" in its precautions.

There is here and there an example of "injustice," flagrantly dramatized by the bleeding hearts, where an innocent person was suspended while under suspicion.

Yet surely any policeman would be delinquent in his duty if he failed to detain a masked man entering a bank with a suspicious bulge on his hip.

Even if he were an "official."

A nation locks its doors for the same reason that a housewife locks her doors. To keep undesirables out.

If that woman locks her doors and then distributes pass keys to anybody who asks for one . . .

Well, we have a special name for that kind of woman.

Uncle Sam To Pay Taxes

WASHINGTON — Uncle Sam, the country's number one property owner, is facing almost certain assumption of a share of the tax burden in Louisiana and the other states in which his vast holdings are located.

In Louisiana alone, property owned by the federal government totals over four hundred million dollars. This includes 1,062,862 acres of land — 3.6 per cent of the state's entire area — valued at $19,105,000; 6,485 buildings costing $239,411,000; and other structures such as bridges, railroads and power lines, evaluated at $163,741,000.

Up to now, land acquired by the federal government has automatically become tax-free, with the result that states and local communities are deprived of that amount of annual tax revenue. Similarly, none of the government buildings constructed on federal property is subject to taxation.

The steady mushrooming of military installations, defense plants and other federal facilities and projects throughout the country has worked severe hardship on many local governments where a heavy percentage of taxable property has been acquired by the government.

In recent years, numerous proposals have been submitted to Congress that would end the exemption on federal property by having the government either pay taxes or make payments in lieu of taxes to state and local taxing authorities.

Impetus to this proposed change in policy was given this year by the President's Commission on International Relations, which in its report to Congress on June 27, recommended a broad system of payments by the national government in lieu of property taxes to state and local governments.

Shortly before Congress adjourned, Chairman John L. McClellan, Dem.- Ark., of the Senate Government Operations Committee, ordered preliminary hearings on the proposal. Witness were spokemen for the National Association of County Officails, who were in the East for their national convention which was held in Richmond, Va. The association strongly supported the proposal.

Senator McClellan has promised extensive hearings on the subject by the full committee when the Senate returns to the second half of the 84th Congress in January.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, Dem.-Minn., who presided over the preliminary hearings, declared the present tax immunities of federal property "have weakened many local governments" and that a broad system of payments by the federal government in lieu of property taxes is "necessary to help preserve financially healthy local governments."

Several bills to provide for such payments are now pending before the Senate committee. Among major problems to be ironed out before a final bill is presented to Congress for action are: (1) Whether the federal payments should start with the current year, once the bill is enacted, or should be retroactive to an earlier "cut-off" year to be determined; and (2) whether public domain lands, such as parks, forest, grazing lands and bombing ranges, shall continue to be tax - free.

Some states in which a large percentage of land is owned by the government as public domain contend they should either receive payments in lieu of taxes on this property, or have some of the land released for private ownership. Nationally, the federal government owns 405,088,569 acres, or 21.3 per cent of the total land area of the United States. The evaluation placed on the federal property is $2,219,752,000.

The combined cost of federal buildings and other structures totals $28,020,804,000.

Local governments in a number of states where government defense plants are located receive federal payments in lieu of taxes as compensation for streets, sewage systems, police protection and other facilities and services provided by the local authorities.

These payments, provided under the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act which has expired, were authorized by Congress this year to be temporarily reinstated on such properties transferred from the RFC to other government agencies snce January 1, 1946.

Humphrey Raps Ike For Ignoring His Farm Ideas

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP) — Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) sharply criticized the Eisenhower administration today for rejecting his proposal to pay farmers to take part of their acres out of production.

Humphrey said he will lead a fight for approval of the "soil bank reserve" plan in the next session of Congress dispite opposition by the Department of Agriculture.

Humphrey referred to a letter by Undersecretary of Agriculture True D. Morse, rejecting as too complex and costly a proposal to pay farmers up to $2,000 a year for removing part of their present acreage from production.

With price-depressing surpluses and declining farm incomes likely to be an important issue in next year's elections, there had been numerous reports that Secretary of Agriculture Benson was considering some program for leasing or buying farm lands.

Humphrey and other supporters of this ida contend it would bolster farm income and at the same time curb surplus production.

Last spring Humphrey introduced his version of this proposal and Chairman Ellender (D-La) of the Senate Agriculture Committee asked the department for a report on the bill.

Morse, as acting secretary, has now turned thumbs down on the proposal, saying it probably would not reduce production and would be linked "with the idea of paying farmers for nonproduction."

He estimated the additional payments would cost the government "several hundred million dollars" annually and doubted that "to reward farmers for nonproduction of agricultural commodites would be acceptable to many groups."

Humphrey said in a statement that the administration farm leaders "have refused to accept the idea of achieving needed adjustments by incentives rather than penalties."

"They turn their backs on the idea of avoiding surpluses by giving the farmer a chance to make a decent living out of less production if he voluntarily turns part of his land into a soil bank reserve to protect its productivity for future needs," he said.

The senator said Benson and Morse are "trying to reduce farm production by forcing down prices and farm income, thereby squeezing out of business farmers with more limited capital reserves."

"The results of such policies by the department can only mean perpetuating and aggravating declines in farm income," he added.

Humphrey said the administration "was rejecting a principle approved both by the National armers Union and the American Farm Bureau Federation," two of the large farm organizations.

Republican lawmakers believe that the administration will offer some farm program of its own at the election-year session of Congress which opens in January.

Fred Preaus Day

W. Heard, who served from 1904 to 1908, and Ruffin G. Pleasant, who was governor from 1916 to 1920.

The applause was defening as Jack Howard, young Monroe business man and former president of the Louisiana Junior Chamber of Commerce, introduced Fred Preaus, Farmerville car dealer and timber farmer, who announced as a gubernatorial candidate Thursday. Preaus, also chairman of the Louisiana board of highways, told the crowd his candidacy is based on the principals of clean, honest government.

Stressing that his platform will emphasize local governmental independence, Preaus said he is convinced that "The right thinking voters in Louisiana do not want to return to the old Political spoils system and that they will not be blinded by the sweet sounding promises of the professional politician or the publicity seeking demagogue."

Preaus introduced his running mate, New Orleans city councilman A. Brown Moore, as an outstanding public servant and an independent in politics, who is so well recognized in his home town that in the 1954 city election he was given the formal endorsement of every political group and received approximately 80 per cent of the total votes cast for the city council position he sought."

Moore said his decision to enter the race was based on the belief that "The people of Louisiana wish neither the return of old corruption, nor the promotion of machine politics in the state levels."

Introduced were Preaus' wife, and their two sons, Frederick, 18, and Eugene, 14, and Moore's wife and their two sons, Edward, 16, and Fenner, 13.

Utah Governor Stands Firm On Not Paying Taxes

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 8 (AP) Gov. J. Bracken Lee said today he had no intention of resigning or retracting a statement that he would refuse to pay part of the federal tax on his 1955 income.

The executive committee of the Utah Democratic party yesterday demanded the resignation of the Republican governor or retraction of what it called Lee's "avowed defiance" of the nation's laws.

State Democratic party Chairman Milton Weilemann today issued a statement on behalf of the party's Central Committee.

It said "The governor's attack is directed against President Eisenhower and the President's foreign policy."

Lee had said the purpose in not paying his taxes was to seek a test case in the U. S. Supreme Court. He said he believed it unconstitutional for the federal government to "tax its citizens for the support of foreign nations."

Weilemann said the "real issue" involved "is the maintenance of the orderly processes of American government."

"He (Lee) swore under oath (when he took office) to uphold and defend the Constitution and the laws of the land," Weilemann said. "He must not now be permitted to defy the laws of the nation and his solemn oath of office."

He said that the governor's poor taste," that if Utah taxpayers follow his example "city, county, state and federal government will hit a dead end."

He said Lee was using his office for national publicity and accused Utah Republicans of "failing to challenge the governor's ridiculous action," and failing to defend President Eisenhower and his foreign policy.

W. M. High Enters 3rd Year In Need Of Space

By EZRA ADAMS
(Staff Writer)

West Monroe High School, one of the finest in this section, has begun its third year of existence.

Counting an enrollment of 1,652, the school officials are looking around for more space in which to grow. Especially needed are more classrooms, they say.

The overcrowded school is headed by Principal P. B. Mangum and Assistant Principal S. R. Braley, both of which have been credited with the smooth, efficient manner in which the entire school carries out its responsibilities to the community, and to its students.

Well staffed with 61 instructors, averaging 27 pupils per teacher, the school was first intended for all Ouachita parish students west of the river except those in Calhoun, which already had a high school.

West Monroe High, with grades eight through 12, is served by 24 buses. One bus makes a daily route of 43½ miles. About a dozen students commute to the school from east of the river, at no transportation expense to W. M. H. S.

Built in 1953 on a land plot of 38½ acres, the school has an estimated 12 or 15 acres covered with trees, on which it can develop. The intended 10-year peak enrollment was reached during the first year of operation.

Planned for the future are a junior high school, a stadium and additions to the Home Economics department.

Many varied activities are offered the campus population at West Monroe High, which boasts a band membership of 65. One modern and well-arranged building of steel, brick and tile construction, houses 26 classrooms on each of two floors, a 1,500-seat auditorium, a gymnasium, a cafeteria and various offices.

A frame-constructed field house for athletics was erected during the 1954-55 session. A third building, also of frame construction, is used by the band.

Many of the boys receive credit for automobile mechanics courses studied at the state's vocational school nearby.

Journalism, rarely found in high school curricula of this area, but a thoroughly desirable course, now has 22 studnts enrolled in the W. M. H. S. course.

As West Monroe High is of great value to its community, so are local citizens of value to the school. Cooperation is the key to pride between them.

Principal Mangum's first - year message to his student body in the "Rebelaire," school yearbook:

"Genius is only the power of making continuous efforts. The line between failure and success is so fine that we are often on the line and do not know it. A little more persistence, and a little more effort; and what seemed to be a hopeless failure may turn into glorious success.

"There is no failure except in no longer trying. There is no defeat except from within, no really impossible barrier except our own weakness of purpose."

To parents, the school's 1955-56 student handbook suggests, "Your objectives as a parent and the objectives of the school in respect to your son or daughter are the same, to give him or her the best possible guidance toward the realization of his or her highest capacities. To accomplish that goal, full cooperation between home and school is essential."

Youth Killed At Oakdale While On Squirrel Hunt

OAKDALE, La., Oct. 8 (AP)—Winston Le Bas, 15, died today when his hunting companion's .410 gauge shotgun discharged into his head.

Dr. Frank Savoy Sr., Evangeline Parish coroner, ruled the death accidental.

Le Bas was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Le Bas of Beaver Creek, about four miles east of here.

Curtis Lee Fontenot, 15, told authorities he and Le Bas were hunting squirrel when the accident occurred.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete Saturday.

Faure Gets Help From Socialists

PARIS, Oct. 8—UP—Premier Edgar Faure Saturday night won the support of the powerful Socialists in his fight to put over his reform program in strif-torn Morocco.

The Socialist deputies, in the midst of a three-day assembly debate which could determine the fate of the Faure government, voted to draw up their own resolution supporting Faure's Moroccan peace plan.

If this resolution fails, the Socialists were expected to support the Faure government in another motion.

Earlier in the debate, Faure won the important support of two former premiers, Pierre Mendes-France and Antoine Pinay.

Faure climaxed a day-long assembly session with an impassioned appeal to the deputies to stop bickering and decide on the government's course in Morocco.

He told the assembly to "make up its mind" to reforms in Morocco or face further bloodshed in the North African protectorate.

"Your decision must be clear to enlighten world and domestic opinion," Faure told the deputies. "A clear-cut solution is necessary to affirm the authority of the state."

Governors Of 16 Southern States To Hold Confab

POINT CLEAR, Ala., Oct. 8 (AP)—Governors of 16 southern states are to arrive Oct. 16 for a four-day conference, with the segregation question certain to be a major discussion topic.

Although the question is not listed on the program of the Southern Governors Conference, observers point out that each of the 16 states face it in some form.

Principal speaker at the conference will be Harold E. Stassen, special assistant to the President, former governor of Minnesota and a leading Republican. He will talk at a Tuesday night state dinner.

Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland, one of the strong Eisenhower backers at the 1952 Republican nominating convention, will preside over a round table discussion dealing with construction, financing and operation of highways.

Panel members will be Govs. Raymond Gary of Oklahoma, Robert F. Kennon of Louisiana and William C. Marland of West Virginia.

Industrial development of the South is to be discussed by Govs. Hugh White of Mississippi, J. Caleb Boggs of Delaware, Frank G. Clement of Tennessee, Leroy Collins of Florida, Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas and James E. Folsom of Alabama.

Gov. Lawrence W. Wetherby of Kentucky is conference chairman.

Mrs. Moore Backed By Morrison Ticket

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 8 —UP— Morrison and his running mate, Lt. Gov. C. E. Barham, Saturday endorsed Ellen Bryan Moore, who is seeking re-election as state land register.

Morrison said Mrs. Moore has inaugurated a modern system of management in an office of considerable importance in so far as it concerns the state's revenue from oil and gas, sales and rentals of state-owned lands.

Dallas Industrial District Official Will Confer Here

William C. Windsor, Jr., president of a Dallas industrial development firm, will meet with the Monroe Area Industrial Developmen Corporation board of directors at 2:30 p.m. on Wednesday, October 12, according to Walter Koch, executive vice president of MAIDCO.

Windsor has indicated an interest in Monroe's plans for the establishment of an organized industrial district, Koch said. He added that any one interested in the project is invited to attend the meeting which will be held in the Cameo Room of the Virginia Hotel.

Windsor was sponsor of the highly successful Brook Hollow industrial district in Dallas, Tex., and Koch said the Texan told him "Any community has to grok or die — it has no choice. It is most desirable to endeavor to attract the highest types of industry. There is an increasing tendency on the part of industry to locate in smaller communities."

Secret Service Agent Stricken By Heart Attack.

DENVER, Oct. 8 (AP) — Douglas Duncan, 28, Secret Service agent on assignment with the President Eisenhower detail, suffered a mild coronary thrombosis last night at his Denver residence.

It was the same type of heart attack the President suffered Sept. 24.

He was stricken while playing bridge with Mrs. Duncan and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Newbrand of Washington. Newbrand also is a member of the Secret Service group assigned to Eisenhower. Duncan is in an oxygen tent at St. Luke's Hospital. His condition is good.

President Passes

at a news conference at the Denver White House was this:

"Did the President in any way, directly or indirectly, indicate to you whether he would run for the presidency again?"

"There was no discussion of the future so far as political problems are concerned," Nixon replied.

He said neither he nor the President mentioned politics in any way.

Nixon was asked how the President looked.

"Well, frankly," he said, "I was surprised to see how well he looked. I had heard I'd probably be very pleased and I certainly was. He not only looked good, but in addition, his spirit is tops.

"As I see it, from the layman's point of view, I think the major problem in his recovery is to hold him down."

By that, the vice president said, he meant keeping the patient from trying to do too much too soon. As far as spirit is concerned, he said, probably Eisenhower would "like to get up and play golf tomorrow."

The vice president said that the moment he entered the hospital room he could see that Eisenhower was "tremendously concerned about the operations of the government."

He said he was speaking of concern in the sense of the chief executive's being vitally interested.

Nixon said he reported that during the past two weeks no action has been taken that would not have been taken had the President been on hand and that government operations are going in the same manner as if the chief executive had been present. He told the President, furthermore, he said, that he would have been gratified by the performance of the men Eisenhower has selected for his official family.

"I told him," he said, "that in that two week period there had not been one iota of jealousy, only dedicated effort by each member of the National Security Council and the Cabinet to carry on the Eisenhower policies.

The President, Nixon said, seemed to be very pleased and said he was "not surprised" as Eisenhower "knew that was the way they would operate in a period like this."

Nixon himself, has presided over two council and Cabinet meetings in the past two weeks. Asked whether there was any discussion of a possibly different role for himself in the next few months, the vice president said there was no "long range discussion as to the role of the vice president in the future."

Moreover, Nixon told a questioner, he intends to make no comment on "political problems until the President is completely recovered and back on the job." He had been asked about California Republican politics which a reporter said were in a "kind of uproar" centering around the vice president.

In three respects this was something of a momentous day in the President's battle for recovery:

1. The period when the danger of complications and relapse was greatest came to an end in this morning's early hours—although the Denver White House cautioned against undue optimism.

2. The team of doctors here, augmented once more by Dr. Paul Dudley White, internationally recognized heart specialist from Boston, began charting an immediate medical future that may allow an increasing amount of official presidential activity from the hospital room.

3. For the first time since his illness, the chief executive was able to see, in Nixon, a top level administration official other than those of his immediate staff.

The vice president said that now, "The amount of consultations with the President on government business will increase as the days go on."

He said he, himself, will see the chief executive tomorrow morning, although only to say goodbye.

Dr. White made a preliminary examination of the President just before Nixon entered the sick room. There will be more examinations, and consultations among the doctors tomorrow, and afterward, Nixon said, White will hold a news conference. Nixon sat in on the medical conferences both before and after calling on the chief executive.

The vice president was asked whether there had been any discussion with Eisenhower of how a critical decision would be made during the presidential absence, as, for example, the disposition of troops.

The vice president didn't answer directly, but did say there are no such decisions of that nature facing the Security Council or Cabinet at this time, none is anticipated in the immediate future, and any other actions that are anticipated will be taken care of under well defined policies already laid down.

He said he had told Eisenhower what types of problems had been taken up by the Security Council and Cabinet and that all actions had been unanimous. The President, Nixon said, had been concerned or worried about such things as a conference to be held at the White House Oct. 25 on discrimination in employment, a conference on physical fitness which was supposed to have started late last month, and a state visit President Castillo Armas of Guatemala is paying to this country at the end of October.

Nixon said he assured Eisenhower that the discrimination conference will be held and Eisenhower expressed pleasure at that. He told the President, he said, that the physical fitness conference has been postponed and there was a discussion of holding it next spring.

And, he said, he informed the chief executive that the Guatemalan President will visit the United States as scheduled and "receive all the usual honors."

Nixon said he thought it was "perhaps helpful" for Eisenhower to receive a report from him in "matters in which he is vitally interested."

He said he told the President that no normal actions are being delayed and there is no anticipation that any will be delayed in the future because of the presidential absence.

By way of showing how good Eisenhower's spirits are, Nixon said the President called out to him as he was leaving:

"Well, goodbye, Dick. Give my love to Pat (Mrs. Nixon) and to all the folks back in Washington."

Nixon flew in from Washington at 3:03 p.m. and drove immediately to Fitzsimons Army Hospital, where Eisenhower has been recuperating for two weeks. But the chief executive was asleep at the time.

Consequently, the vice president consulted the panel of doctors handling the chief executive's case and talked briefly with Mrs. Eisenhower and then at 5 p.m. went into the President's room.

Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston heart specialist, who accompanied Nixon to Denver; Col. Byron E. Pollock, chief of heart services at Fitzsimons, and the doctor in charge of the case; Major Gen. Howard Snyder, Eisenhower's personal physician; Col. Thomas W. Mattingly, heart specialist from Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington; Maj. Gen. Martin Griffin, Fitzsimons commanding officer; Lt. Col. John A. Sheedy, chief of general medical services at Fitzsimons and Col. Geo. M. Powell, chief of Fitzsimons Department of Medicine.

Militia-Occupied Town Jittery On Conference Eve

NEW CASTLE, Ind., Oct. 8 (AP)—This little militia-held city marked time uneasily today while Gov. George N. Craig prepared to seek a truce in the bitter, rot-punctuated Perfect Circle foundry strike. Peace talks are set for 5 p.m. Sunday.

Business has slumped sharply since the National Guard took over New Castle last Thursday. Merchants are complaining.

Two gunshot victims of Wednesday's riot at the plant described what it was like inside and outside as bullets flew. They related their experiences calmly enough. But their words reflected the angry emotions which have wracked this town of 18,000 in the gentle hills of eastern Indiana. One victim was an outside union official, the other a nonstriking woman foundry worker.

The three-story red-brick Perfect Circle plant is scheduled to reopen Monday morning. Striking CIO United Auto Workers have warned that thousands of their fellow unionists throughout the state are angry enough to again march on the foundry if it returns to production of piston rings.

The midweek demonstration by 5,000 UAW CIO members against 100 nonstrikers left eight persons wounded by gunfire. The foundry has only 260 employes.

However, with 600 National Guardsmen patroling the city, the UAW CIO officials said they hardly expected any pitched battle. There was no indication when the militia might be dismissed.

Gov. Craig interrupted a Bahama fishing trip and Florida vacation to head home. He is due to hold truce talks with both sides at Indianapolis, 50 miles away. His telephoned orders from Florida sent the Guard in here early Thursday a few hours after the riot. Since then outward calm has prevailed.

However, the city began to chafe under the benign but strict control of the militia. Merchants complained that retail business has fallen off perhaps as much as 50 per cent.

There was no interference with citizens going about their business inside the city. Mass gatherings were banned. A high school dance was postponed Thursday night. Friday night's football game between New Castle and Anderson high schools was transferred to Anderson, 30 miles away.

Water Shortage Hampers Battle With House Fire

Monroe firemen were greatly hampered early last night by lack of water to pour on a burning house at 307 Rosewood Drive in the Lakeshore addition, the firefighters said. Only available water was brought to the scene in pump trucks.

The home of H. D. Cartwright, a stucco brick residence, was badly burned from a fire that got its start in a couch in the den. Firemen theorized that a cigarette may have been the cause, although Cartwright said he left home about 2 p.m. The fire alarm was not given until 5 p.m. It would be possible firemen said, for a cigarette-started fire to smolder in the couch for that length of time before blazing so it would be noticed from outside.

An estimate of damage had not been made last night, but the fire-damages were incurred to the carport, kitchen and attic. The roof, of "compositon" material, was "cooked" and would need repairing and the entire house would probably need repainting inside, firemen said. Cartwright told firemen the house and its contents were covered by insurance.

Neighbors noticed the couch was on fire and dragged it outside to the carport but were unable to extinguish the blaze and the fire spread, according to firemen. The neighbors removed most other pieces of furniture from the burning house.

Fire companies 103, 105 and 107 from No. 3 fire station on Hudson Lane answered the alarm. No water was available, firemen said, except what they carried on the trucks. The tank on No. 107 holds 300 gallons and the other two, 103 and 105, each carry about 110 gallons, a fireman said. Forty minutes engine pumping time was required to extinguish the fire, according to the firemen's report.

Eden Warns

region and of a possible war between Egypt and Israel.

Saudi Arabia, Egypt's ally and another fierce opponent of Israel, announced last night it has an offer of arms from Russia, "but nothing definite has been decided."

Egypt too has had an arms offer from Russia but has not announced action on it. Nasser has accused the Western powers of withholding arms from the Arab countries while secretly equipping Israeli forces.

As Eden spoke before the closing rally of his Conservative party's conference, the British Foreign Office accused Nasser of issuing falsely attributed information that "grossly exaggerated" the extent of British military aid to Israel.

A Foreign Office statement said Nasser last week in quoting figures on American and British arms deliveries to Israel claimed the source of his information was a secret French official document. The Foreign Office said the information was in fact taken from a commercial news letter published in Paris.

Eden said that with "international anxieties" in the Far East and Europe now less acute, he saw the Middle East as the last remaining "explosive" spot.

"Everyone knows of the tension between Israel and Egypt and how each country tries to build up its armaments to be stronger than the other," he said.

"There are grave risks in this—not only because we are faced with the crudest form of arms race, but because there is always the danger that the one who believes that it is today the stronger may be tempted to strike first.

"That is how wars have often begun in the past."

Opening Of Fair

vails for the poultry and livestock divisions, the secretary - manager added. Generally, he said, the coming exposition promises to be the most outstanding in the fair's history.

Judging of entries in the crops, home economics and junior livestock divisions will take place Tuesday morning, while poultry, hogs and senior cattle entries will be judged on Wednesday.

Saturday afternoon several commercial exhibits had been moved into place, and home demonstration club women were arranging displays as painters completed lettering work on booth backdrops. At one end of the main agricultural building was an array of stuffed animals and reptiles near the spot where the Ouachita parish unit of the Louisiana Wildlife Federation was preparing to place a special display.

Facilities in the poultry building, livestock quarters and the Negro exhibit building, were also being put in order.

The fair will run through Saturday. Among the mid-week visitors to the show is scheduled to be state commissioner of agriculture, Dave Pearce, Birdsong said.

Panuco River At Tampico Recedes 18 Inches In Day

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 8 (AP)—The swollen Panuco River dropped 18 inches at Tampico today but the threat of epidemics still hung over the stricken city, two-thirds under water.

Some 150,000 residents and refugees huddled in makeshift shelters on higher ground, some of them in open parks and plazas.

A fleet of U. S. Navy helicopters continued to pluck refugees from the rooftops of their flooded homes, and officials hoped to complete the rescue work by nightfall. Several thousand already have been flown to safety, at the rate of 1,000 a day.

Rescue workers estimated 10,000 homes have been destroyed by floods which devastated an area 50 miles broad and 120 miles long centering on Tampico. The unofficial death toll stands at 326. Three successive hurricanes and drenching rains precipitated the catastrophe.

Rescue work was interrupted yesterday when a new storm from the north endangered helicopter operations. The storm cleared today and helicopters resumed their mercy flights.

Italian Outlaw Surrenders For Sake Of Woman

BOVA SUPERIORE, Italy, Oct. 8—UP—Dashing Vincenzo Romeo, one of the most feared outlaws in all Italy, turned himself in to the police Saturday for the love of a woman.

The woman was Carmale Larizza, 33, a dark-haired beauty whom Romeo had kidnaped and then married.

Police had arrested Carmale and were holding her hostage until Romeo, known as the "romantic bandit," surrendered to authorities.

Romeo had a price on his head as the No. 2 man in an outlaw gang that was terrorizing the Calabrian area in the wild toe of the Italian boot.

But love triumphed and he came out of the hills before dawn to free his wife from Bovas' dark prison in true Romeo fashion.

As one police official put it, "Romeo was loved by many women, but by one woman who loved him too much."

Carmale was set free two hours after he gave up.

Romeo's career as an outlaw began with his love for Carmale and ended because of it.

Six years ago he had kidnaped the beauty from her home. Immediately the police sought him for rape and abduction. Romeo fled to the hills but his love for Carmale did not die.

Three years later he came down to the town to marry her—in the town church. But the honeymoon was short. Police closed in on him and he opened fire on officers. No one was killed but one charge was added to those against him, that of firing a gun upon the forces of the law.

Russians Visit Richest American Residential Area

RYE, N. Y., Oct. 8—UP — Ten Russian housing experts saw the captialistic life at its peak Saturday in a tour of suburban Westchester, the nation's richest county.

The Russians began the day with a hunt-style breakfast at the exclusive Westchester Country club, where they had been overnight guests.

A hunt breakfast is eaten buffet style and standing up. The Russians ate heartily after driving a few golf balls off tees at the country club, which Westchester residents claim is the world's largest, with its three golf courses, polo field, and indoor swimming pool.

Peron Warned

ouster request "deals with a question to be decided within the judgment of the country granting asylum" and Peron could be expelled "if the refugee failed to abide by measures taken by the Paraguayan government."

In his note to the acting Argentine charge d'affaires here, Juan Angel Pena Gaona, Sanchez Quell promised there would not be a repetition of Peron's political remarks and added:

"The Paraguayan government regrets the statements by Gen. Peron were made despite precautions and had reached such a point as to be taken into consideration by your government. On the other hand, it would be regrettable that the statements of a refugee, which are his own responsibility, should endanger the good will between two countries. . . .

"Paraguay will take all necessary steps to prevent a reptition of such incidents, including stricter vigilance, and awaits advice from the (Argentine) government whether to proceed with the internment of the refugee."

Before today's announcement, an unconfirmed report circulated that Peron may leave voluntarily for a life in exile elsewhere in order not to ruffle relations between Argentina and her northern neighbor. There have been reports that he might go to Spain or Switzerland.

This was the ex-dictator's 60th birthday and he awoke to the strains of soft music. Crowds of Paraguayans, including a band of guitar-strumming serenaders, assembled at dawn outside the white stucco house where he lives with a wealthy Argentine friend.

Paraguayans appear to be displaying more sympathy for their guest than when he arrived a week ago—at least in that residential section.

To mark Peron's birthday, a group of Asuncion students from a school named "Republic of Argentina" was allowed to enter the home and present him bouquets and a gift of linen handkerchiefs embroidered with his monogram.

Faure Wins

times applauded during Faure's address tonight, but at the end they were conspicuously silent.

Faure said that if the Assembly concludes its debate without setting a policy: "What will be the consternation of our friends? Perhaps there will be joy among our enemies."

He said it would be a severe blow to French prestige in the United Nations, since Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay had told the U.N. General Assembly a new government was about to be formed in Morocco. Defeat of the government plan, Faure said, might be interpreted as meaning there was not going to be any new Moroccan government.

RABAT, French Morocco, Oct. 8 (AP)—A riotous demonstration by 600 diehard French colonials tonight brought the resignation of Francois de Panafieu as French Morocco's chief civil affairs officer. He was a backer of Premier Edgar Faure's home rule plan.

The colonists clashed with French police. The police sprayed them with fire hoses and red paint, but were relatively gentle in handling them. One policeman and a demonstrator, obviously personal friends, laughed as they wrestled.

De Panafieu ranked second only to the resident general among French officials in this North African protectorate.

In confirming that De Panafieu had resigned, officials quoted him as saying. "I do not want to be responsible for a clash between Frenchmen."

There were no immediate reports of casualties.

Antoine de Beneditti, president of the Rabat Chamber of Commerce, told the assembled crowd: "Panafieu informs us he has resigned and will return to Paris tomorrow with Defense Minister Pierre Billotte. But we ask you to remain vigilant. Our task is not over."

Despite his appeal for calm, small groups of demonstrators broke loose. One group of about a hundred went to the Spanish consulate and sang the Marseillaise. This was a gesture of defiance against reported Spanish aid to Moroccan rebels fighting along the zonal border in the north.

The office of Resident-General Pierre Boyer de Latour du Moulin, atop a hill in a comfortable European residential quarter of the city, was cordoned off by riot police carrying rifles and Tommyguns. Spikes were in readiness to throw beneath auto tires if needed.

De Panafieu, who is reportedly at loggerheads with the resident-general, returned to Rabat last night after a week's visit to Paris, where he saw Premier Edgar Faure.

He aroused the ire of the colonists by pressing for implementation of Faure's plan for immediate formation of a three-man regency council. The colonists oppose this because it is planned to have an Istqlal (Independence) party member on the regency. They do not want any further concessions to be made to the nationalists. The resident-general himself, although ordered by the government in Paris to set up such a council of the throne, has apparently been dragging his feet in finding the needed third man to serve on it.

Meeting Tuesday, To Take Steps Concerning Rabies

COLUMBIA, Oct. 8—(Special)—A meeting will be held here Tuesday night at which time town officials will take steps concerning the rabies situation.

Mrs. Guy Alford, Mayor of Columbia, reported that a veternarian would be at the city hall Monday to vaccinate all dogs and cats that have not been vaccinated.

Two children in Columbia were reported taking syrum for rabies bites. Mayor Alford ordered all dogs and cats penned up by owners until definite steps can be taken in the situation.

Realtors Urged To Aid Projects To Remove Slums

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 8 (AP) — Poche Waguespack, director of the New Orleans Realtors Assn. today urged Louisiana realtors to help with slum clearance programs in their areas.

Speaking to the closing session of the annual convention of the Louisiana Realtors Assn., Waguespack proposed that the group inaugurate a program of rehabilitation and renewal of housing during the coming year.

The realtors later passed a resolution calling for a study of legislaiton needed to make eminent domain rights available to cities and communities interested in slum clearance and rehabilitation.

The association elected Durwood Gully of Baton Rouge president to succeed William B. Coleman of Lake Charles. Other officers include Omer F. Kuebel, New Orleans, vice president; Frank J. Zuzak, Shreveport, secretary; and treasurer.

The group named six new directors. They are Lawrence A. May, Shreveport; Parker Meade, Baton Rouge; and E. A. Aschaffenburg, Angus Easton, George A. Frilot and Elton Boudreaux, all of New Orleans.

Air Force Plans Drop Of Building Supplies At Pole

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP) — The Air Force said tonight its planes will drop 500 tons of building equipment and supplies at the South Pole from October 1956 through March 1957.

The material will be used to build and provision a station for civilian scientists who will make antarctic polar observations during the International Geophysical Year.

The Tactical Air Command, assigned the air-drop task, appointed the 18th Air Force, at Greenville, S. C., to carry out the mission.

Aircraft and crews of the 18th will fly to Christ Church, New Zealand, a year from now, and set up a major overhaul base there.

From Christ Church the planes will fly 2,300 miles to an ice strip, to be built by the Navy's Task Force 43 at McMurdo Sound, 400 miles west of Little America.

An aerial port unit of the 18th will be stationed at McMurdo Sound to tie and rig the air-drop bundles, and the transport planes will wait there for favorable weather over the polar area.

There will be a series of drop missions, each of them more than 1,700 miles for the nonstop round trip.

Air Force experts pointed out that the flights will be much more rugged and hazardous than those conducted by the 18th in the far north last winter in support of the DEW line — the Distant Early Warning radar line being constructed along Canada's northern rim.

They said that while the arctic provides a great many frozen lakes and bays at or near sea level for safe emergency landings, much of Antarctica consists of a high inland plateau, with peaks of more than 14,000 feet.

The Antarctic station is to be part of a worldwide network of observation posts from which scientists of more than 40 nations will study a great variety of subjects ranging from meteorology to seismology during the geophysical year. This will be observed from July 1957 to December 1958.

Graham At Toronto

TORONTO, Oct. 8 (AP) —Billy Graham, evangelist conducting a month-long campaign here, today addressed more than 10,000 children at a two-hour rally in the coliseum. The children came in groups from as far away as Buffalo, many of them in 116 chartered buses.

is in much demand as an after-dinner speaker.

He has been a guest speaker in past years at the First Presbyterian Church and has always attracted a large audience from other churches of the city.

David De Rossett, graduate of Ouachita Parish High School and of Louisiana State University, now band director at the Tallulah High School, has been highly honored in being selected to play in the First All - American Bandmasters' band in Chicago, December 7-10.

He was euphonium soloist of the L. S. U. concert band for five years directed by L. Bruce Jones.

Monroe friends are proud of the honor that has come to young De Rossett.

Seems it is open season for political candidates. Attorney Lea Thompson sprang a surprise when he qualified for representative Friday. The night before he had presided at the Civitan Club, of which he is president, and nary a word did he disclose to his friends assembled there that he had political aims to announce inside of 24 hours

Lea is thoroughly capable to fill the post he seeks. He has practiced law here for many years and served as assistant U. S. district attorney in Shreveport. We predict he will make a strong bid for election.

Another young man who is well known here, where he was born and spent his early days, is David H. Walke now of Shreveport who has qualified for the race in Caddo parish for member of the legislature

He is son of Mrs. Frank H. Walke of Monroe, daughter of the late Tandy Tatum Webb. Mr. Webb was member of the state legislature for 16 years.

He has been engaged in the insurance business in Shreveport and has served as secretary of the citizens' charter revision committee. He announces he is to run as an independent candidate.

Many friends of E. R. Dawson, who has been a patient in the Alexandria veterans hospital, where he underwent a serious operation, are pleased to see him back at his job as manager of the Western Union Telephone Company here.

All Methodists here are urged to remember to make a generous offering today for the Louisiana Methodist Orphans' home in Ruston. This offering, and one at Easter, comprise the only support the institution receives, so it is urgently sought to have the public meet the call with generosity.

It's time again for the North Monroe Lion's to hold their annual light bulb sale. Members will go from house to house Tuesday and Wednesday nights selling the light bulbs to sponsor their many civic and charitable activities.

Light bulbs are an item that is needed in nearly every home. To buy the needed item when the proceeds will go to such worthy causes is a profitable thing for every citizen.

The money from the sale of the light bulbs will help many young boys in this community through the baseball clinic as well as underprivileged children who need glasses, children at the Cerebral Palsy School and also many families at Christmas time.

It is a worthy cause, so buy your light bulbs from members of the North Monroe Lions Club Tuesday and Wednesday night.

SUNDAY LAW

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — The seven men arrested when the cops broke up their game in the rear of a barbership weren't surprised when they were charged with playing cards in public.

The blinds at the shop were drawn, however, and a second charge stopped them cold. It was an ancient provision of the city code against "obstructing the view into a barbershop on Sunday."

A TRIBUTE TO OUR HOSPITALS!

Someone once said that all well people should visit a hospital occasionally to see how fortunate they are! When a friend or loved one is being tenderly cared for in one of our hospitals, then we understand the great importance of these institutions. Staffed with doctors, nurses, internes and all manner of life-saving equipment, the hospital is mercy headquarters for all who are suffering. We never cease to wonder at the modern miracles performed in our hospitals. Their works go largely unheralded. But their eagerness to bind up wounds and make men whole again goes on forever. What would we do without these havens of healing?

Climbing Retail Sales, High Job, Salary Levels Push 4th Quarter Boom

By WALTER BREDE JR.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (AP)—Steadily climbing retail sales, plenty of jobs at good pay, a continued boom in industrial production — that's how business shaped up this week going into the fourth quarter.

Bright prospects were tempered somewhat by a renewal of caution in Wall Street. But bouyant confidence was the keynote almost everywhere else.

From Fifth avenue to Main street, from swank suburban shopping centers to roadside tradng posts, well-heeled consumers were spending freely. The flow of consumer dollars was centered on clothing and frippery, paints and wallpaper, television sets, bedroom furniture and 1956-model cars.

The trend showed up in the latest government figures on department store trade — business up a whopping 15 per cent from a year ago with gains of 20 per cent or more in Philadelphia, St. Louis and Chicago.

Merchants grumbled about slow deliveries and rising wholesale costs. Higher wholesale prices were expected to show up on retail counters soon, particularly on such items as glassware, bed coverings, lingerie, toys, men's and boys' apparel. One big question confronting retailers: Would consumer resistance to higher price tags make a dent in Christmas sales? Consensus seemed to be that 1955 would still bring the biggest Christmas shopping season ever.

Jobs made news this week. Labor Secretary Mitchell said official figures for September, to be announced soon, would show an increase of more than 400,000 in the number of people holding nonfarm jobs.

Total employment dropped slightly from the August peak of 65½ million as students holding summer jobs went back to school. But unemployment — the number of people looking for jobs and unable to find them — showed a further decline from August's 2,237,000.

Brightest spot in the September employment report: Weekly earnings of factory workers soared to a record.

Increased hiring at the factory level was promised by Ford Motor Co. whose big new assembly plant at Mahwah, N.J., will go on a two-shift basis next Jan. 3. The company also put out a hurry call for engineers. Said Ford chairman Ernest R. Breech: "If 900 qualified engineers were to approach us next week, we'd hire every one."

Ford, which had just announced plans for a half-billion-dollar expansion program for 1956, said it would pour another half a billion into new plant and equipment in 1957-58.

Construction activity last month continued to set new marks. Total construction spending in the United States touched an all-time monthly high of more than four billion dollars, making a total of 31 billions for the first nine months of 1955 for a 12 per cent gain over last year.

Steel production continued its fast pace with the week's output scheduled at 96.5 per cent of capacity. Steelmakers, straining to keep up with incoming orders, forecast continued high demand well into 1956.

Auto output tapered off as Chevrolet, biggest of the car builders, shut down for the changeover to 1956 models. Ford, which completed its changeover in record time, stepped up its production to about 35,000 cars a week; several Chrysler Corp. divisions were also going full tilt. Industry records are expected to fall when all of motordom's Big Three—General Motors, Chrysler and Ford—get back into full production.

The stock market showed further easing tendencies this week, but there was nothing to match the sharp sell-off of Sept. 26 which followed the first news of President Eisenhower's heart attack.

Morrison And Barham Speak At Ruston Fair

RUSTON, La. Oct. 8 —UP—New Orleans Mayor deLesseps Morrison and his running mate, Lt. Gov. C. E. Barham, told an audience at the North Louisiana State Fair they would work for a balance between agriculture and industry to "help boost Louisiana's economic level" if they are elected to the state's two highest posts.

"Many of our farm communities are dying on the vine because they depend solely upon a dwindling farm income," Morrison said. "We must balance this economy with some industry in small communities. This is our biggest single need in Louisiana."

Barham spoke briefly to the hometown audience, but backed Morrison's promise of developing "each and every part of the state, with concentration on weaker spots in weaker areas" where agriculture predominates.

Morrison, one of six candidates for governor currently stumping the state, said Louisiana "produces a lot but processes and manufactures very little. Your products are sent elsewhere to be processes and manufactures very little. Your products are sent elsewhere to be processed," he said.

He said Louisiana should have more "small textile plants which would use your cotton, more feed processing plants for your grain and more food processing plants which would handle such things as beef and other farm products."

Morrison promised a three-fold solution for the enticement of more industry to the state. He said if elected he and "Cap" Barham would bring about a greater influx of manufacturing plants by good planning, sales and promotion efforts and through leadership.

Morrison and Barham arrived from Norco, La., where they spoke at the dedication of the huge new Shell chemical plant.

The north Louisiana State Fair will run through tomorrow with a number of other gubernatorial candidates scheduled to appear before the fair closes.

A. V. Breard, owner of Monroe Office Equipment, Inc., 510 No. Walnut, left, and B. C. Cook, New Orleans Southern district area director for Marchant Calculators, Inc., go over the final report of the local company which resulted in their winning the Marchant National sales contest. The Monroe firm lead the approximate 200 districts in the United States with Little Rock, Ark., second and Birminghom, Ala., third. The Southern area lead the five district areas in the country.

Our accomplishments of winning top honors in this sales contest, which was based on the highest percentage of quota of sales made to new Marchant users, is a result of these three factors; said Breard:

1. The industrial growth of this area gave us the potential. These industries were attracted to our community by our respective governments making it more attractive for these industries to locate and expand here.
2. By a parallel growth of Marchant Calculators, Inc., in the development of their product and increased quality of service to our customers in the application of and maintenance of our product.
3. The quality, loyalty and eagerness to serve our employees. Adv.

Oil Industry To Present Story Of Its Development

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—In 1859 one state, Pennsylvania, produced 2,000 barrels of oil. This year oil is coming from 29 states, and U. S. Production is expected to set a new record of some 2½ billion barrels.

That is the story the oil industry will carry to the nation next week during Oil Progress Week.

A television show, "1976," will start off the week tomorrow. It is sponsored by the American Petroleum Institute (API) in behalf of the industry. Special events will follow during the week throughout the country.

Records show that 20 years ago the annual production of oil was around 900 million barrels, coming from 22 states.

Production today is averaging around 6,600,000 barrels daily.

About 300,000 persons are working in crude oil production, the industry estimates.

The API estimates of daily average output for the week ended Sept. 30 showed Texas as the top producing state with about 2,700,000 barrels, followed by California with 984,200 and Louisiana with 688,700.

Other producing states are Oklahoma, Kansas, Wyoming, New Mexico, Illinois, Colorado, Mississippi, Arkansas, Montana, Kentucky, Indiana, Michigan, North Dakota, Pennsylvania, Nebraska, New York, Ohio, West Virginia, Utah, South Dakota, Florida, Virginia, Alabama, Tennessee, Missouri and Nevada.

Alabama, Florida, Nebraska, Nevada, North Dakota, South Dakota and Virginia have joined the list in the last 20 years.

Total value of the wells of the production since the first well was completed in Pennsylvania is estimated at 80 million dollars.

The API's committee on petroleum reserves estimates the nation's total proved reserves of crude oil as of Dec. 31, 1954, at 29,560,746,000 barrels, an increase of 615,918,000 during the year.

Representatives from the following parishes are planning to attend the meeting: Morehouse, West Carroll, East Carroll, Ouachita, City of Monroe, Richland, Tensas, Concordia, Catahoula, Franklin, and Madison. All principals of this district are invited to the conference.

Opening the day's program will be registration and a coffee period from 9 to 9:30 a. m. in the Home Management House on the college campus. R. S. Hargis, Rayville High School principal, is program chairman.

The main session is scheduled to follow, with music by students of the Fine Arts Department as an introductory feature.

Morning events will also include a panel pertaining to the Special Education Clinic, which began functioning at Northeast in the late summer. This phase of the agenda is timed from 9:50 to 11:20.

Participating in the discussion will be four specialists who are affiliated with the clinic. Headed by Robert C. Canedo, coordinator and clinical psychologist, the group also includes Dr. Gladys Longino Jones, reading specialist; Milton Blue, who works with children who have speech difficulties; and John J. Barnes, expert in dealing with defective hearing.

Consideration of the function and accomplishments of the Special Education Center will be followed by a brief intermission before the Principals Association goes into a business session at 11:30. Main items on the agenda are a discussion of the state principals' suggested salary schedule and election of officers.

About 5,000 children receive treatment each year through the crippled children services of the Louisiana State Health Department.

All animals, except man and sometimes foolish dogs, respect the skunk's desire to remain aloof, says the National Geographic Society. Only in rare emergencies, when starvation motivates them, will coyote, cougar, and mink risk the skunk's noxious barrage.

Barksdale Base Authorities Deny Club Segregated

SHREVEPORT, La. Oct. 8—UP—Barksdale Air Force Base authorities today denied a charge that segregated non-commissioned officers clubs are being operated at the base.

Barksdale was listed by Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. (D-N.Y.) as one of the military installations which allegedly employs segregation.

"All facilities of the base including the officers club, the non-commissioned officers club and the airmen's clubs are open to our personnel on an equal basis regardless of race, creed or color," said Col. Ralph J. White, commander of Barksdale.

"Because of the size of the base and the large number of personnel stationed here, there has been in operation for some time a small branch of the non-commissioned officers club," White said. "Both are open to all non-commissioned officers on the base."

Powell, recently returned from a visit to military bases in Europe and North Africa, said he would submit a report to the White House on increasing racial discrimination in the military services.

The Negro representative said there are too few Negro commissioned officers, civilian employes or teachers in military branches overseas.

Math And Science Teachers Lacking, Says Shell Prexy

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 8 —UP—The president of the Shell Chemical Corp. says this country faces a shortage of secondary school teachers of science and mathematics which could imperil the national security.

Richard C. McCurdy said the problem will become worse instead of better.

Our colleges turned out last year less than half their 1950 output of graduates qualified to teach science and mathematics in secondary schools," he said.

He spoke at a dinner for business and civic leaders of this area in connection with the dedication of Shell's new plant at nearby Norco.

McCurdy said the number of college graduates per thousand population is increasing, but the percentage of scientists and engineers is dropping.

Shreveport Boy Elected To Head N. S. C. Freshmen

NATCHITOCHES, Oct. 8 (Special) — Spanky McCoy, Shreveport, was named president of Northwestern State College's 762-strong freshman class as he emerged victorious over four other contenders for the post. The former Byrd High School football star was elected on the first ballot.

Mickey Murphy, Haynesville, gained the vice presidency of the class over three other opponents, winning in a run-off vote. Named to the post of secretary-treasurer, also in a run-off, was Helen Manitzas, coed from DeRidder.

While at Byrd, McCoy was president of his senior class, was among the ten top favorites of his class, and starred in football, swimming, and track and field.

Since his advent at NSC, the young athlete has made a place for himself as reserve quarterback on the football team. McCoy has appeared in all three of the games played by the Demons of NSC.

The three officers elected by the freshmen will hold their posts throughout the 1955-56 school year, and from a portion of the Student Council.

The three were named at a recent W. C. T. U. convention in Lake Charles.

By TED HECKATHORN

The Northeast State Indians lost their second Gulf States Conference tilt of the season last night at Brown Stadium, 26-6, falling before the Southwestern Louisiana Institute Bulldogs from Lafayette.

All points were scored in the first half, with the visitors chalking up 12 points in the first period, and the Tribe narrowing the gap

12-6 in the second before a long run and a touchdown pass accounted for the final Bulldog scores.

Northeast came back after intermission, an entirely differene club from the sluggish first half eleven, to out play the Canines all during the second half. S. L. I. failed to rack up a first down in the third stanza, and were only able to get two in the fourth. The Indians moved the sticks four times in the second half.

Everett Reynolds, third - string Northeast quarterback, sparked during the fourth period in both passing and running, and got away for the longest run of the game, a 49-yard punt return, only to have it nullified by a 15-yard clipping penalty.

After the invaders had taken the 12-0 at the end of the first on a 67-yard drive, and a fumble recovery and 30-yard pass for the next, Northeast came back to march 60 yards to paydirt early in the second quarter, with quarterback Danny Hoak bursting through tackle for the final yardage. A Hoak to Tommy Leos aerial, and the running of Aubrey Wade and Leos featured the march.

The Bulldog touchdowns in the second came on a 45-yard run by halfback Billy Hewell, and an eight-yard end run by reserve Frank Foreman, who also kicked two conversions.

The Tribe lost the services of big tackle Sherrod McKoin early in the first period, when he was injured in a line pileup and had to be carried off the fieid on a stretcher, later to be removed to a local hospital.

McNeese Tumbles To Tech Bulldogs By 14 To 0 Count

LAKE CHARLES, La., Oct. 8 (AP)—Ends Charles Anderson and Bob Burnley spilled McNeese State backs with amazing regularly tonight to steal the show from the offense in Louisiana Tech's 14-0 Gulf States Conference victory.

They dulled every McNeese offensive push and were instrumental in holding the losers to a meagre 64 yards rushing and 38 passing. Their mates struck for scores in the first and final periods to win the battle of teams unbeaten in GSC play.

Fullback Gene Jantz pushed across from the three for a first quarter touchdown after a 60-yard run by halfback Russell Rainbolt set it up. Anderson got the first of two conversions.

The final touchdown came after Tech took the ball on downs on the McNeese 30 late in the game. Halfback A. L. Williams scored on an 11-yard run after a 14-yard dash and a four-yard run by Rainbolt.

Stranahan Takes Charge In Eastern Open Tourney

BALTIMORE, Oct. 8 (AP)—Frank Stranahan sank a seven - foot birdie putt on the 18th hole today and snatched back the lead in $17,500 Eastern Open Golf Tournament.

The putt gave the wealthy young muscle - man from Toledo, Ohio, a two - under - par 70 for the third round and dropped him seven under at 209 for 54 holes of the 72-hole event.

It also enabled Stranahan to ease one stroke ahead of Ed Oliver of Lemont, Ill., who finished moments earlier with a 70 - 210.

Art Wall of Pocono Manor, Pa., whose 69 was the day's hottest round on a Municipal Mt. Pleasant course playing longer than ever after three straight nights of rain came one notch back at 211 in a tie with Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex. Maxwell fired a 70 for his third straight sub-par round

Baylor Ekes Out 25-20 Win Over Tough Arkansas

WACO, Tex., Oct. 8—UP—Baylor outlasted a determined fourth-quarter bid by Arkansas' comeback kids Saturday to take a hard-fought 25-20 victory before 28,000 fans in Baylor Stadium.

Baylor built up a comfortable 25-6 lead, scoring in every period, but Arkansas bounced back to score two touchdowns in a wild fourth quarter, and as the clock ran out Baylor halfback Weldon Holley, standing on his own goal line, intercepted a pass from Arkansas' George Walker.

Arkansas, bidding to repeat last year's 21-20 victory won over Baylor with a field goal in the last minute of play, surged to two touchdowns in the final period behind the generalship of Walker, and took possession with about two and a half minutes left in the game.

Tallulah Outlasts Newellton Rivals For 33-12 Victory

TALLULAH, La., Oct. 7 (Special) — The Tallulah Trojans struck on the ground and in the air last night to win a 33-12 decision over the battling Newellton Bears in a game that was closer than the score indicated.

The Trojans struck for two touchdowns in the second quarter, knocking the Bears back on their heels, after the first period had ended in a scoreless tie.

Halfback Raymond Russell struck the first pay of the game with a 15-y rd run around end after the Trojans had recovered a Bear fumble on the Newellton 15. A moment later fullback Lynn Naylor got the ball on the Newellton 40 and carried over right tackle on a 40-yard scoring run. Quarterback Stanley Williamson kicked between the uprights twice ti give the Trojans a 14-0 half-time lead.

Then Newellton got into the scoring act with quarterback Jerry Clark crossing the double stripe on a ten-yard sweep around left end. But Raymond Russell, who made several beautiful long runs for the Trojans during the evening, took the ensuing kickoff and ran 77 yards to score.

On the ensuing kickoff, Newellton launched a touchdown march that paid off on a 25-yard run by Barfield.

Newellton played without back Terry Head, who suffered a hip injury in last week's game with Lake Providence. His twin brother, Jerry, played outstanding ball as offensive fullback and defensive end. Jerry Clark, diminutive quarterback, also stood out for Newellton.

Russell's runs sparked the Trojan offensive.

Jon May Ignites Florida In 28-0 Rout Of Colonials

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 8 (AP)—Sophomore quarterback Jon May pulled the faltering Florida Gators out of a slump tonight and started them toward a 28-0 football victory over George Washington. Long touchdown runs by Jackie Simpson and Jim Rountree solidified the triumph.

After May ignited the Florida offense with a 33-yard touchdown drive in the second quarter, the whole Gator squad woke from a lethargy that had lasted since the second quarter of the defeat by Georgia Tech two weeks ago.

Simpson ran 24 yards for a touchdown in the early minutes of the third quarter and two minutes later Rountree scampered 66 for his score.

And Richard Allen, erstwhile first string quarterback whose passes turned sour, came back to steer a 96-yard touchdown drive in the final period, tossing 21 yards to Larry McIver for the score.

Directors Of Little Loops Meet Tuesday

A special meeting of the board of directors of Monroe two Little Leagues has been called for Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the Monroe Recreation Center.

Important business concerning the operation of the Southside and Northside leagues, and election of new officers for both circuits is scheduled.

BATON ROUGE, Oct. 8 (AP) — Georgia Tech called on a long range scoring punch—a 46-yard pass from sub quarterback Toppy Vann to George Volkert—to down Louisiana State University 7-0 here tonight in a bitterly fought football game before a record - breaking crowd of 60,000.

Tech was denied a touchdown when the officials said Jimmy Thompson stepped out on the Tech 40 on an 85-yard punt return late in the second quarter.

But the fourth - ranking Tech speedsters proceeded to march 60 yards for their score in three plays after being denied twice earlier in the first half by stout LSU stands.

Volkert bucked for two. Then Johnny Menger sprinted 12 yards around end to the LSU 46.

On first down, Vann, a second string quarterback who scored all three of Tech's touchdowns against Southern Methodist last week, pitched a deep pass to Volkert, who hauled it in on the LSU 25, dodged two tacklers and raced over for the score. Burton Grant converted.

On earlier drives, Tech smashed to the LSU 3 and 18 yard lines, but the Tigers held.

LSU held Tech short of a first down on its 13 to halt a scoring threat in the final quarter.

The victory was Tech's fourth straight and gave the Atlanta Engineers undisputed first place in the Southeastern Conference with two victories against no losses in league play.

It was the largest crowd ever to attend a football game in Tiger Stadium, which two years ago was enlarged from 48,000 to 66,000 seats.

Denver Smashes Montana Defense In 61 to 13 Rout

MISSOULA, Mont., Oct. 8—Denver shattered Montana's defense today with an aerial attack that netted five first-half touchdowns, then Denver's backs ran wild in the third to pile up a 61-13 Skyline Conference football win.

The visiting Pioneers, aiming for a chance at the conference crown, outplayed the Grizzlies in all departments.

Only once, early in the second period, was the score tight but Denver soon moved away from the 14-7 count to lead 35-13 at the half.

Denver added 26 points in the quarter.

Denver scored twice in the first quarter on long passes. Halfback Al Yanowich tossed to Joe Strasser for a 61-yard scoring play and the second to play moved 62 yards on a pass from Bob Weglein to Willie Frank.

Loyola Will Compete In Baseball Classic

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 8—UP—Loyola University announced Saturday that the Wolfpack baseball team would play in the 1956 Dixie Classic tournament April 4-7 in North Carolina.

The tournament will be played on the campuses of four teams in that area, including Wake Forest North Carolina, Duke and North Carolina State.

Ferriday Points For 31st Against Oak Grove Tigers

FERRIDAY, La., Oct. 8 (Special) — Ferriday's well-loaded Bulldogs enter the district two Class A competition for the second time this season at Melz Field in Ferriday Friday night when they meet Oak Grove.

The Bulldogs will be looking for victory No. 31 without a loss after disposing of Rayville's Hornets Friday night at Rayville, 45-7, without too much trouble.

Despite several key losses via graduation, Coaches Johnnie "Red" Robertson and Johnnie Emmons have molded a machine at Ferriday as potent as ever — and with a good sprinkling of juniors in the lineup.

Guy Hill, tough, hard - running blonde speedster at halfback, is the bow who led Louisiana in scoring last year in Class A competition. Prior to the Rayville game he had scored 11 times as against a total of 21 touchdowns for last year when he led the conference scorers.

But Hill is only a part of the offensive show. Donnie Daye is the other halfback and Tommy Purvis a fine fullback. At quarterback is Jimmy Marks, who is developing into a standout split T. operative.

The Bulldog first string line has not been scored on all season. Leading the forwards are ends Marion Newman and Tony Brocato, tackles, Buddy Long and Billy Taylor, guards Manson Nelson and Charley Bryant and with All-American Center Max Fugler in the middle.

Oak Grove is said to have a powerful running, passing and plunging attack to throw at the steamrolling Bulldogs, but they may find the going mighty rough when they invade the lair of the Bulldogs.

Ferriday was runner-up Class B titlist in 1952. Class B champions in 1953 and Class A kingpins last season in their first attempt in the Class A bracket. Now they are gunning to repeat and are being given an excellent chance to do so.

Front-Running Maryland Routs Wake Forest, 28-7

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 8 (AP)—Maryland's first ranked Terps jumped off to an early lead with their finest display of offensive power this season, then rolled to an easy 28-7 football victory over Wake Forest today.

The Terps scored the first time they got the ball, then added two more before halftime while their rock-ribbed defense held the Deacons until the closing moments of the game.

Frank Tamburello, Maryland's cocky quarterback, guided his team 75 yards in 12 plays an took the ball across on a 1-foot plunge for the first score.

The Terps scored after 4 minutes of the second quarter on a 38-yard drive in six plays, highlighted by Lynn Beightol's 27-yard pass to Ed Vereb. Vereb went across seconds later on a 1-foot plunge.

Vereb, speedy halfback from Pittsburgh, carried another foot with 12 seconds left in the first half for the third Terp score. His dash around end on a tricky fake climaxed a 64-yard drive.

Maryland's three scores came in the five times the Terps had the ball in the first half. Wake Forest held once on the 18 and end Jim Parsons caught Tamburello's pass outside the end zone on another threat.

The game, before a sparse crowd of 16,000 in Byrd Stadium under cloudy skies, was the ninth straight victory for the Terps, counting five at the end of last season. It was their first Atlantic Coast Conference game this season.

Cassaday Sparks Buckeyes' 27-12 Win Over Illinois

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 8 (AP)—All - America halfback Howard (Hopalong) Cassady put on one of his finest shows today as he paced Ohio State to a 27-12 victory over Illinois.

The freckled, red-haired speedster scored his team's opening touchdown on an 18-yard run in the first period, clinched the victory with a 3-yard scoring jaunt at the start of the fourth, and in between ran the Illinois defenders ragged.

The game, Ohio's first in defense of its Western Conference championship, was played before a crowd of 82,407 — sixth largest in Ohio Stadium history — and swept the Illini from the undefeated ranks.

Illinois out-gained the Ohioans 371 yards to 351 but could not match the sustained drivers of the Ohioans as the Bucks marched 54, 20, 76 and 51 for touchdowns, the four drives consuming only 29 plays.

Michigan State Blasts Stanford Into 38-14 Loss

EAST LANSING, Mich., Oct. 8 (AP)—Michigan State cut loose with a brilliant and daring pass attack to overpower Stanford 38-14 in an intersectional football battle today.

Michigan State struck early with period and romped in from there as the second and third string outfits operated during most of the latter periods.

M.S.U. Coach Duffy Dougherty had warned before the game that his Spartans were "mad" after losing a bitter neighborhood battle 14-7 to Michigan.

But it was figured that Stanford would put up more of a struggle after upsetting Ohio State, the most recent Rose Bowl champ, 6-0.

Quarterback Earl Morrall supplied most of the M.S.U. passing magic for the crowd of 47,586. His most spectacular heave was a long throw to end John Lewis, a play that carried 50 yards for a score.

Score by quarters:

Stanford	0	0	0	14	14

California Bears Settle For 20-20 Tie With Cougars

BERKELEY, Calif., Oct. 8 (AP)—The underdog Washington State Cougars, cashing in on every break that came their way, forced California to come from behind in the final three minutes today to earn a 20-20 tie in a Pacific Coast Conference football game.

The Cougars, clobbered in two previous conference outings, stunned a slim crowd of 33,000 in Memorial Stadium by scoring in the opening quarter and cashing in a pair of last half touchdowns. The Bears, gambling on a fourth down pass in the waning minutes of the game, gained position on the Cougar 34 for the deadlock touchdown.

Roger Ramseier, a gangling end, was the bright light for the Bears although he failed to score. The rany sophomore caught nine passes for a new school record and was instrumental in each of the California scoring drives.

Score by quarters:

Washington State	7	0	7	6	20
California	7	0	6	7	20

Washington State scoring: Touchdowns — Pelluer (41, pass-run from Iverson), Kramer (2, plunge), Rath (1, plunge). Conversions — Sarno 2.

Led by halfback Fob James, Auburn smashed to a 14-7 halftime lead, but quarterback Bob Hardy engineered a 72-yard scoring drive with the second half kickoff. And when Hardy's sub, Delmar Hughes, added the extra point the scoring was done for the day.

Auburn got a break for a fine chance to win the game in the final minutes. Lou Michaels, Kentucky kicker, got a bad snap from center and was tackled on his 15 with two minutes left.

Three plays netted only eight yards, after a 5-yard penalty, and fullback Joe Childress attempted a field goal. It was wide to the left and the contest ended 26 seconds later.

Unscored-On Navy Blasts Pittsburgh Into 21-0 Defeat

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE, Oct. 8 (AP)—George Welsh, 160 pounds of bamboozling artistry at quarterback, and a handful of Navy ironmen jabbed the stuffings out of a beefy Pitt squad today for a 21-0 football victory. It was the third in a row for the undefeated, unscored upon Middies.

Welsh cleared the decks of Pitt's hulking line with impartial running by his three other backs and then took pot shots through the air to score Navy's two touchdowns in the second and third periods.

His 7-yard pass found end Jim Owen all alone in the end zone for the first score and his 15-yarder to halfback Chet Burchett set up the 3-yard TD plunge by fullback Dick Guest.

The Navy ends climaxed a great game of a crisp hitting line to provide the third scoring opportunity. Earl Smith crashed in from the right to block Corney Salvaterra's punt in the last quarter and Ron Beagle recovered on the 3.

Guest then scored from the 2 on last down after having one shot over the goal nullified by a 5-yard offside penalty.

Salvaterra, who led Pitt to a 21-19 victory over Navy last year, got off only one pass and that was intercepted as the Middie defense smothered the Panthers. Pitt was held to 59 yards rushing.

Pitt had only one chance to score. Right after the game started, tackle Bob Pollock recovered a wild pitchout by Welsh on the Navy 35, but Beagle halted the bid by throwing halfback Corkie Cost for a 7 yard loss.

Wrestling On Tribe Ticket

Northeast State's Coach Leon Manley is now instructing wrestling for the first time in the history of the college. This course is designed to acquaint students with the fundamentals of wrestling as a sport.

The wrestling class now numbers 28 enthusiastic potential grapplers, and is governed by National Collegiate Athletic Association rules.

N.C.A.A. regulations state that illegal holds may not be used at any time and that unnecessary roughness such as striking, kicking, butting, elbowing, gouging, hair pulling or anything that endangers life or limb shall be strictly forbiden.

Emphasis is on the pin (where a contestant holds his opponent's shoulders to the mat for a count of three by the referee) and ability to escape an opponent's hold. Points are awarded for each of these actions and the match is decided by the number of points each man accumulates.

Dr. Carl Meeks, a newcomer to the health and physical education section, says college wrestling is radically different from professional wrestling and is largely a matter of speed, skill, and intelligence.

Northeast's grunt and groaners are still in the embryo stage, Coach Manley explained, but the class may give an exhibition during the winter months.

Coach Manley, a former Oklahoma football star who appeared in two Sugar Bowl games and topped his grid career in professional ranks, studied wrestling under Coach Port Robinson at University of Oklahoma and has also coached high school wrestling. One of Robinson's Sooner teams won the N.C.A.A. championship.

Sooners Smash Longhorns, 20 To 0

Oklahoma Jumps Longest College Win Streak To 22

DALLAS, Oct. 8 (AP)—Clinch running by Tommy McDonald, an inexorable ground game under the touch of clever Jimmy Harris and eagle ball-hawking by ponderous Jerry Tubbs gave Oklahoma a 20-0 victory over Texas today and extended college football's greatest streak to 22 games.

It was nationally third ranked Oklahoma's fourth straight triumph in this storied intersectional football series and was a new record for the Sooners. They never had won four consecutive games from Texas before.

A crowd of 75,504 jammed the Cotton Bowl to watch the raging Tubbs intercept three passes, one setting up a touchdown and the others halting dangerous Texas drives and McDonald run 27 yards for a touchdown in the first period and skip seven for another in the second.

Bob Burris got the third Sooner score with a 1-yard plunge after the faking and running of Harris had gotten the ball in position for the touchdown.

Excellent quarterbacking by Harris, who played with a cut hand that failed to hinder his ball-handling, and his understudy Jay O'Neal were too much for Texas, which depended mostly on the passing of sophomore Joe Clements. The Texas thrower did a terrific job despite five interceptions, passing for 153 yards and often driving the Longhorns deeply into Oklahoma territory.

Michigan Shatters Army Jinx To Snatch 26-2 Win

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 8 (AP)—Pent up Michigan, releasing more than a decade of football frustration, finally shattered its Army jinx today, whipping the unbeaten Cadets 26-2 behind the violent running of halfback Terry Barr.

A futile fumbler only two short weeks ago, the 20-year-old junior from Grand Rapids, Mich., scored two touchdowns as the Wolverines ground Army into submission for the first time in their six game series which started in 1945.

With a sellout crowd of 97,239 roaring approval, Barr slammed 1 yard for Michigan's first touchdown in the opening quarter, then raced 82 yards with a punt in the second quarter for the second score.

The Wolverines, the nation's No. 2 team in this week's Associated Press poll, added a third touchdown on fullback Ed Shannon's 1-foot blast at the start of the fourth period and scored again late in the game on a 4-yard end sweep by sophomore Jim Pace.

Army's point-a-mniute machine, which had rolled up 116 points in 120 minutes this season, was reduced to fumbling ineptness by the Wolverines' tight defense. The sixth-ranked Cadets didn't dent Michigan territory until the third minute of the final period.

Army averted a shutout in the final 10 seconds when tackle Flay Goodwin downed Michigan quarterback John Greenwood in the end zone for a safety.

Michigan's long awaited victory over the Cadets gave the Wolverines a 3-0 record for the season. They played the final 38 minutes without their heralded end, Ron Kramer, who was shaken badly on Biarr's second touchdown sprint.

Tennessee Whips Chattanooga For Season's 1st Win

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 8—UP—Tennessee finally shook off Chattanooga tacklers who were as persistent as mountain 'coon dogs Saturday and scored twice in the second half to win its first game of the season 13 to 0.

A crowd of 13,000 saw the Vols, beaten by Mississippi State and Duke previously, come through on the efforts of tailbacks Johnny Majors and Al Carter.

But Tennessee was unable to jell its attack in the first half and almost fell behind just before the intermission when Chattanooga quarterback Bobby Case and Jack Matowsku worked a 37-yard play.

Score by periods:

Pelicans Pointing For Saturday Tilt At Pine Bluff, Ark.

The Louisiana Training Institute Pelicans, who finally hit pay dirt in Ogden, Utah, last Thursday when they defeated the Utah State Training School for Boys by a score of 43-7 for their first win, returned to Monroe the first of this week to prepare for a Saturday invasion of Pine Bluff, Ark.

Saturday night they will meet the Arkansas Boys Industrial School in their final Southern Conference of Boys Training Schools game. The Pels earlier in the season lost close games to Florida and Mississippi and fought Alabama to a scoreless tie.

The Louisiana boys are defending champions in the conference but have found tough sledding this season. Although they have been beaten four times, it was by a total score of only five touchdowns, and with the Utah game, they have actually outscored their opposition, wth only one win and one tie, by a margin of 83-80.

Coaches Fred Lindsay, Jack Herron, Bob Fisher, and Buster Crowley hope that their Pelicans who have looked potentially like a good team all season, have now found their scoring punch and will be able to keep on the right track. The only comparative score they have with Arkansas in their two games with Alabama who beat the Razorbacks early in the season by a score of 10-0. However, the Arkansas team has won over two Arkansas high schools since then, and reports from Pine Bluff seem to indicate that L. T. I. can expect a hard fight.

The Pelican mentors will be counting heavily on the running of Charlie Dronet, Don Hendricks, and Bill Cochran, and the line play of Huey Hines, Ed Oglethorpe, and James Noblitt, as well as the cool head of first year quarterback Stan Roberts who is developing into a fine signal man for L. T. I.

McGill Spearheads Elis In 46-13 Rout Of Columbia Lions

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 8 (AP)—Dennis (The Menace) McGill, Yale's shifty 169-pound back from North Bergen, N. J., tallied four times today as the Blue piled up a 46-14 victory over Columbia in between rain showers.

A crowd of 15,000 saw Yale's pre-season favored Ivy League champs click consistently for the first time as they scored at least once in each period and managed to check Claude Benham of Columbia, the nation's leading passer.

Yale's margin of victory was the largest over the Lions in the modern history of this series that goes back to 1872. Until today, the record was the Blues' 33-7 triumph in 1949.

McGill, who registered three touchdowns in the first half, another in the third quarter and then retired from action, also equalled a Yale modern record. Two other Blues have scored four times in a game, Art Fitzgerald against Harvard in 1945 and Ed Woodsum against Brown in 1952.

Riley Will Meet Stapler In Texas Open Golf Finals

FORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 8 (AP)—Polly Riley of Fort Worth and Pat Garner Stapler of Midland advanced to the finals of the 20th annual Women's Texas Open Golf Tournament here today at River Crest Country Club.

Miss Riley, winner of this event in 1948 and runnerup twice since, defeated Mrs. H. C. Reidel of Dallas, state women's champion 4 and 3.

Mrs. Stapler, the 1955 Women's West Texas champion, rallied on the back nine to outlast Greta Leone of Chicago 2 up.

The finalists will meet for the title tomorrow over a scheduled 36-hold route.

Miss Riley, after twice stroking back to regain the lead, made the turn two up by winning No. 7 and No. 9. They matched strokes on 10, 11 and 12 before the Fort Worth shotmaker won 13 and 14 and halved 15 to close it out.

Mrs. Stapler, who has rallied in the last stages of two matches uncorked another comeback today before winning over Miss Leone. The Chicago golfer made the turn two up but was unable to win a single hole on the tough back stretch of the plush 6,209-yard layout.

Wisconsin Aerial Game Tips Purdue By 9 To 0 Margin

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 8—UP—Wisconsin's passing wizards, Jim Haluska and Jim Miller, hurled the Badgers to a 9-0 triumph over Purdue Saturday in a Big Ten aerial battle against Len Dawson.

None of the passers could throw for a touchdown and each team intercepted three tosses. But Haluska and Miller kept pressure on the Bollermakers, who suffered their first defeat in three starts, from the opening whistle.

Haluska, alternating with Miller in the first half, played all of the final half and wound up with 14 completions in 18 attempts for the day, gaining 136 yards with all three of the interceptions made by Purdue charged against him.

Miller missed on only one throw and gained 42 yards on three completions.

Against this combination, Dawson connected on only 18 of 32 attempts for 138 yards and he was thrown for losses twice while attempting to pass and fumbled to lose possession of the ball on another occasion.

Charley Thomas, the successor to Allan Ameche as Wisconsin's fullback, was nearly as effective as the aerial attack. He carried the ball 88 yards on 14 attempts and bulled through the line for six yards for the Badger touchdown.

His two longest gains of the day were 33 yards and 29 and both came when the Badges needed help. The 33-yard gallop was on a fourth down—and one situation in the touchdown march when Wisconsin faked a punt to break him loose. The second run pulled the Badgers out of a bad hole on the Wisconson seven-yard line.

Score by periods:

Wisconsin	0	6	3	0	—9

80-Yard Pass Play Gives Huskies Upset Of Trojans

SEATTLE, Oct. 8 (AP)—Washington furnished one 80-yard stroke of football lightning in the last quarter of a rain-drenched game today to bowl over the highly favored Trojans of Southern California 7-0 and take the lead in the Pacific Coast Conference race.

Huddled under umbrellas and thoroughly chilled, the crowd of 35,000 had it figured as a scoreless tie when Washington struck with only six minutes of play remaining.

The Trojans had punted to the Washington 32 and a holding penalty had carried the Huskies even farther back to their own 20. Quarterback Steve Roake faded a bit and hoisted a pass to end Jim Houston. The big wingman was hit hard on his own 45, but he scooped a lateral to end Corkey Lewis and there wasn't an enemy finger laid on the lanky junior in his 55-yard romp to the victory tally.

Dean Derby's boot for the extra point was good.

Until then the game was a battle of rugged lines. In spite of the dampness, the footing was good but neither team could shake its backs into the clear for good gains.

Southern Cal knocked on the touchdown door twice in the first half, once reaching the 11 and again scrambling down to the 14.

Washington jammed to the Trojan eight once in the third period. At the start of the final stanza the Trojans, completing their first passes of the game, roared from their own 32 to the Washington 19. Bob Isaacson went in to try a field goal but his boot from the 26 was wide and short.

Maroons Smack Fumbling Greenies, 14-0

Mississippi State Packs Its Power Into Opening Half

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Oct. 8 (AP) —Halfbacks Art Davis and Jim Tait steered Mississippi State's lumbering land machine to a 14-0 victory over fumbling Tulane today before 19,000 happy homecoming fans.

State did all its scoring in the first half, then managed to hold the Greenies in check the rest of the way.

Four times Tulane drove within State's 10-yard line, but the Maroons wall stiffened to hold them off. Mississippi State showed a powerful array of backs in winning its second Southeastern Conference victory in three tries this season. This was Tulane's first SEC start.

Mississippi State turned a Tulane fumble by fullback Ronny Quillian into a scoring opportunity early in the first quarter. State fullback Sabbatini snared the loose ball on the Tulane 30.

Quillian, apparently infuriated by his bobble, came back with a blazing one-man running attack to move the ball from Tulane's 31 to the State 7.

In the 62-yard drive, Quillian accounted for 52 yards in eight tries. But Quillian fumbled again and State's Jimmy Lee Dodd recovered to end the scoring threat. State roared back midway of the second quarter and opened its second touchdown drive by taking a punt on the Tulane 35.

Using strictly a ground attack, State marched to Tulane's eight with seven line smashes. Right halfback Jim Tait threaded his way through right guard for the remaining eight yards to score State's second touchdown. Morgan added the second conversion and State held a 14-0 halftime lead.

Tulane took the second half kickoff and marched 72 yards to State's five before Otis Gilmore fumbled away the scoring opportunity for the Greenies.

Quillian, a 188 pound junior from Baton Rouge, La., was the day's leading runner. The big fullback carried the ball 22 times for 103 yards, an average of better than four yards a try.

Tulane's offense looked good between the 10-yard marker but the Greenies couldn't muster scoring steam against the stout State line. State's left guard Scott Suber and tackle Jim Barron were mighty walls of resistance against Tulane's offense.

Quillian was the only Tulane back who managed to gain consistently. State gained 224 yards rushing and only 72 by passing. State completed only three passes in eight attempts.

Tulane tried 12 passes and completed three for 34 yards. Tulane gained 206 yards on the ground.

Beaumont Likely To See Franchise Moved To Austin

BEAUMONT —UP— Allen Russell, president of the Beaumont Exporters, confirmed Saturday a report that his Texas League franchise may be moved to Austin.

The confirmation came after Bob Rule, sports editor of the Houston Press, reported such a move was contemplated by the Texas League club, which has been beset by poor attendance and financial woes.

Russell said Rule's report was "red hot" but he idn't want to "jump the gun" and preferred to say, for the record, just "no comment."

Russell said he would be in Dallas Monday when the Texas League meets to discuss the franchise shift, if not to Austin then possibly to Amarillo, Corpus Christi or Baton Rouge La.

Rule reported that Russell had been guaranteed at Austin a "sizeable" advance sale of tickets—enough to assure a profitable first year of operation in the capital city.

JENA, La., Oct. 8 (Special)—The Jena - Natchitoches football game, postponed from last night, has been rescheduled for November 18, it was announced today.

The district double-A high school contest was postponed last night when it was learned officials had not been assigned to the game.

It was reported that Jena had not furnished the district officials association with an official schedule and that there were published reports at least three times in the last two months that the game was scheduled to be played at Natchitoches. Officials serving the Jena area do not work at Natchitoches.

5-Man Wrestle Royal; 2 Other Bouts Tuesday

Three wrestling matches, including a five-man wrestle-royal to decide the main-eventers, is on tap at Gus Kallio's Arena Tuesday night.

The five grapplers who enter the ring for the "royal" will be Charlie Keene, Baby Blimp, Johnny Silvers, Charlie Laye, and Jack Curtis. The first man eliminated is through for the evening, and goes without pay. The second pair to be knocked out of action will come back to wrestle the semi-final event, which has a one-hour time limit with the best-of-three falls necessary to win.

The surviving two return to face one another in the main event, which will have a 90-minute limit and require two of three falls to win.

Of the five man, Curtis and Laye are popular grapplers, whereas the other three are well-known villains. Blimp is a rotund husky, and has not wrestled locally for many months, although he worked as referee for several matches recently. Silvers made his initial appearance here last week, and proved quite a capable tag man. He should put up a lively battle Tuesday both in the "royal" and any other match he wrestles.

Princeton Slaps 12th Loss In Row On Penn, 7 To 0

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8 (AP)—Tommy Morris, a third string sophomore halfback, sparked Princeton to a soggy 7-0 victory over Pennsylvania today to extend Penn's losing streak to 12 games.

It was a heartbreaking setback for the battered Pennsylvanians, who had an 85-yard touchdown run nullified in the opening period by a penalty and who marched 68 yards in the final period only to be stopped at touchdown's door.

With regular tailback Royce Flippin on the sidelines with an injured knee and with his substitute, Sid Pinch, taken out late in the third period with a gashed face, young Morris, a long-legged runner, came off the bench to lead a 59-yard touchdown drive in the third period.

He reeled off runs of 10, 23, 9 and 8 yards and then scored from two with nine seconds remaining in the third period. Fullback Dick Martin kicked the extra point.

Baffled 'Bama Subdued By Christians, 21 To 0

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Oct. 8 (AP)—Jim Swink, a 6-foot-1 junior, scored all three touchdowns and rolled up 139 yards rushing today as he powered Texas Christian to a 21-0 gridiron victory over a fumbling Alabama team.

It was the Crimson Tide's sixth loss in a row and the ninth consecutive game without victory, a record unparalleled in 'Bama's football history.

Swink averaged 7.7 yards in 18 times he carried the ball. His most spectacular run was a 65 yard touchdown sprint early in the third quarter, the first score of the afternoon.

With 345 yards in three games, Swink was already the nation's leading ground gainer before today. His season's total is now 484.

His three touchdowns gave him a total of 62 points in four games.

A fine defensive game enabled the Tide to hold the favored Horned Frogs scoreless in the first half. But Swink broke the deadlock in the third quarter when he shot through the Alabama defense on his long scoring run.

Fumbles cost 'Bama heavily. A miscue by halfback Jerry McBee gave TCU the ball on its own 27 and opened the way to the Frogs' second touchdown Swink plunged over from the 3.

An 80-yard drive in 14 plays brought the third score in the final quarter with Swink driving across from the 10. Fullback Harold Pollard added all three extra points.

$2,600,000 Pooled To Bid For Detroit Baseball Franchise

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Oct. 8 (AP)—Harry Levy, an insurance man here, said today he and a group of associates are ready to offer $2,600,000 for the Detroit Tigers baseball club.

Levy said the trustees of the estate of the late Walter O. Briggs, former owner, are to meet Oct. 27 and it is his understanding that Walter O. Briggs Jr., will bid for the club at that time. Briggs Jr., operates the club for the trustees.

If under trustee laws in Michigan Briggs' offer is declined, the club will be up for sale Jan. 1, said Levy. His bid will be made then, or sooner if circumstances permit, he said.

Levy did not name his associates.

Grid Fans Snap Up 4,000 Ducats For Sugar Bowl

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 8—UP—Chilled football fans Saturday snapped up 4,000 tickets in the annual public sale of Sugar Bowl tickets, within an hour after ticket windows opened.

Bernie Grenrood, president of the New Orleans Mid-Winter Sports Association, said the remainder would be sold on out-of-town mail orders.

Stocks Hit By Shakeout During Week; Recovery Takes Much Slower Pace

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (AP)—The stock market this week had its second severe shakeout since the President became ill.

The big drop came Monday, just as it did two weeks ago, but this time the recovery from the lows was far less pronounced, and stocks went into a sinking spell Friday.

Brokers had expected the Monday reaction. The question was whether the market could muster enough strength and reserve buying power to keep prices from slipping drastically to new low levels.

The Associated Press average this week lost $4.40. Last week it was down $8.20. It now stands at $168.90. That is $1.20 under the Eisenhower break but only 40 cents under the August low.

Brokers regard those two average lows as important signposts. If the market dips sharply and decisively below those levels, then most brokers would take a bearish view of the situation. If the market can hold in its present neighborhood without further severe weakness, there will be happiness in the camp of the bulls in Wall Street.

The five most active issues this week were U. S. Steel off 1¼, Glenn Martin up 2⅞, General Motors off 1¾, Chrysler off 3¼, and New York Central up 1⅜.

The bond market resisted the second sharp shakeout in the stock market since the President's illness and maintained a fairly steady, firm course.

U. S. treasury obligations posted their most sizable gains in several months this week.

Uranium Hunting Lags Behind Oil In Oregon Area

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 8 (AP)—Despite the atomic age, uranium hunting is taking a back seat to oil and gas exploration in Oregon.

Hollis Dole, director of the state Department of Geology, said more than 2 million acres of Oregon land are under oil lease and the leasing is still going on.

The land office says it will be months before its overtaxed staff can issue leases on thousands and thousands of acres of government land for which applications have been on file since early spring.

Ten major oil companies have leases in Oregon and seven wells are being drilled in the state.

The most encouraging is one Sinclair is putting down in Lane County, near Mapleton in western Oregon. The well was down to about 6,500 feet.

Sinclair also put down a 4,888-foot hole in Malheur County on Oregon's extreme eastern edge. It was plugged and abandoned last month.

The Monroe Little Theatre's first production of the 1955-56 season opens, Friday, Oct. 14 at 8:15 P.M. at Selman Field Playhouse. The play, a happy fable of family life, with a French Canadian background, is warm, tender and yet hilariously entertaining.

News From The Public Library

This was an unusually big week in the publishing field and the new books added to the Ouachita Parish Public Library, should appeal to all types of readers and every shade of interest. Probably the most popular book of the week will be "The Smiling Rebel" by Harnett T. Kane. This is a novel based on the life of Belle Boyd, the Confederate spy. Belle Boyd was the most glamorous spy of the Civil War. Her career began at seventeen when she was beautiful high-spirited and witty. Her base of operations was around her home territory in Western Virginia. Her story is a true one and will probably be one of the most popular that Mr. Kane has done.

There are several other novels with a historical background among this week's additions. "Shad Run" by Howard Breslin is a story of two men and a girl. It takes place in the beautiful Hudson River valley near Poughkeepsie during the tense summer months of 1788 that ended in New York's ratification of the Constitution. It was a year of decision for many people and this novel is especially timely since we celebrated Constitution week from September 17 to September 24. It is too bad that the book didn't come out before instead of after Constitution Week. "Farewell to Valley Forge" by David Taylor is an intriguing story of love and adventure during the critical year of 1788. In this book we meet another engaging female spy, but a fictituous one. Another story of the American Revolution is "Slow Dies the Thunder" by Helen Topping Miller. This one has its setting in Charleston, S. C. Her characters are human and interesting. All three of these books are exciting and authentic.

We have some readers who refuse to read a novel with an English setting and others who just love them. I belong to the latter group and am always glad when a top flight English novelist produces another story. Howard Spring had done just that with his "These Lovers Fled Away," a magnificent story of three generations of adventurous, and colorful people. The story is intensely readable and will hold the reader with its fascination and charm. "The Listening Eye" by Patricia Wentworth is another of her fascinating Miss Silver stories. Those of you who know Miss Silver, need no more explanation, those who do not, have missed a wonderful treat in not reading the mystery stories about the clever an ddisarming Miss Silver, whom no one would take for a detective.

"A Dream of Kings" by David Grubb is a very fine novel by the author of "The Night of the Hunter." It has its setting in West Virginia during the Civil War period. It would be interesting to compare it with "The Smiling Rebel" to see how the mood, background and action compare.

In the field of non-fiction, there are books of many different types. "Know Your Social Security" by Arthur Larson is a very useful and practical book. It explains many of the questions that people ask about their social security benefits. A beautiful and interesting book of literary merit is "A Southern Reader" by Willard Thorp. This is an anthology of southern life and customs, arranged by subject. It gives a vivid picture of the Old South as well as the new.

"Explaining the Atom" by Selig Hecht is a wonderful book of science and is particularly fine for young people interested in the atom and all of its uses. It is especially concerned with the development and use of the atom bomb. One of the most beautiful books that we have had in a long time is "The Book of the Sea" by A. C. Spectorsky. The illustrations are beautiful. The book is a collection of all that has been written about the sea by the outstanding authors of the world. It is a book that any enthusiast of the sea will completely enjoy.

Gardening enthusiasts will welcome two new books "Orchids As House Plants" by Rebecca T. Northen and "Wild Flower Gardening" by Norman Taylor. Both of these books are lovely and informative. The artists of the community will want to see "Water Color, Gouache and Casein Painting" by Adolf Dehan, which the author calls a handbook of techniques.

Last of all are three books about other people of the world. "The French Canadians, 1760-1945" by F. Mason Wade is a complete history of the French speaking people of Canada and how they have learned to live with their English countrymen. "A History of Latin America" by Hubert Herring is a brilliantly readable history of our neighbors to the south, from the Indian beginnings to the latest political crisis. It will be of great value to anyone studying that country.

John Gunther has written a number of books about the inside of various continents. His latest is "Inside Africa." Critics have said it is his best volume. At any rate he paints a fasciuating picture of the whole of Africa in all its mystery, majesty, wonder and its political challenge for the future.

Surely there is something mentioned here that you will want to read. The resources of the Ouachita Parish Public Library are yours for the asking. Try us and gain an enlarged horizon from reading.

Girl Scout News

A Brownie troop registering for the second year is Troop 41, with Mrs. Cyril Yancey and Mrs. Dick Pierce as the new leaders. The girls will receive Brownie pendants to indicate completion of a year's membership are: Yvonne Cason, Suzy Cammack, Vickie McCullen, Jerry Lee Clark, Judy Engstrom, Brenda Gresham, Sally Pierce, Melody Tippin, Connie Yancy. Ginger Cupp is a new member who will be invested at the next meeting.

All fourth graders at Georgia Tucker School, which means that they are looking forward to "flying up" at the end of the school year. Mrs. R. Cammack, Mrs. Betty Engstrom, Mrs Charles Cason, and Mrs. B. A. Tippin are serving on the troop committee.

Another fourth grade group at Georgia Tucker, which has not had scouting before, is ready to start meeting Friday afternoon at Grace Church parish house with Mrs. Ralph Talbot and Mrs. Sylvian Masur as leaders. When the troop is registered we'll know who the girls are.

There is no "best" time for camping, say those who like it, but we say October is a mighty good time. True, many troops are in the process of being organized or reorganized and their leaders have not yet had the out-of-door training. However, we hope they'll include at least a Saturday or two, if not an overnight, in their fall plans.

Troop 18, Mrs. E. R. Smith, leader, spent Friday night at Pine Wood, the first overnight of the fall. The girls have planned carefully and when we hear that Lucy Huckabee our camp chairman, and Marie Nelson and Yvonne Huckabee, campers of many year's experience, will be with the group, we know they're going to have fun and learn a lot. They will probably do the out-of-door activites in the second class rank.

Getting ready to go to Pine Wood next week end is Troop 26, Mrs. J. H. Mosely, leader Mrs. G. M. Heidenreich will help with the overnight. In preparation, the girls had a cookout at their meeting Wednesday. They tried what to them were two new recipes for one-pot meals, pocket stew and porcupine balls. Girl Scout food tastes better, perhaps because of the funny names.

For pocket stew every girl brings a vegetable and a boullion cube. When all of them are put together they make good stew. Porcupine balls are made of rice and hamburger made into balls and cooked in tomato juice. The rice sticks out like porcupine quills, hence the name.

Two fires, two sets of kaper charts made everything go smoothly and was certainly good practice. The girls plan to make tin can stoves and buddy burners at their meeting Wednesday. That sounds as if they plan to cook pancakes for breakfast Saturday morning. Included in this group are Maretta Heidenreich, Linda Ballenger, and Susan Ferguson, veterans of day and established camping. Campers are always a help to a troop, we find.

Training for new leaders continues Thursday at 9:30, with emphasis on troop financing, program planning, and including games and singing.

Wallace-Anderson Vows Said In Home Ceremony

Miss Jo Ann Anderson, daughter of Mrs. W. C. Stallcup, of Columbia, and Mr. Jim Anderson, of Olla, became the bride of Billy Wallace, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wallace, of Columbia, Friday, at 8 o'clock in the evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Anderson.

Mrs. Wallace attended Louisiana Tech of Ruston majoring in elementary education. Mr. Wallace studied Civil Engineering at Missionary College, Collegedale, Tenn. and has recently returned from the Philippines after serving four years with the U. S. Navy.

This Is Fire Prevention Week

President Eisenhower has designated the week of October 9-15 as Fire Prevention Week under the sponsorship of the National Fire Prevention Association in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture and State Agricultural Extension Service. The slogan is, "Don't give fire a place to start." Every day there are thirty-four deaths by fire, and most of the deaths by fire involve women and children. Here are some checks for you to make and be sure there is no place for fire to start at your home. Check, or better have an electrician to check, the wiring and circuits in your home and other buildings. Don't forget to replace those frayed cords on the appliances. How about those oily rags in the tractor shed, or those old clothes and papers and other trash in the attic? Clean them out. Winter is just around the corner so it is time to check if your furnace and other heating equipment are ready for winter operation. Examine the chimneys and flue pipes, too. Make repairs now.

Mothers, are you checking on the clothing your child wears? Fire-inviting garments are a chief cause of children being burned severely or killed. Protect your child by buying clothes that is not flemsy and readily ignited by fire. Teach your child not to run if his clothing ignites. Train him to lie down and roll around on the floor or ground. If anything is near, as a rug or blanket, teach him to use it and roll up in it. Play fire protection with him to get him conscious of these facts, and by all mean take steps to prevent possible contact with fire. The use of fire guards at fireplaces, matches, lighters, gasoline and kerosene should be kept far out of children's reach. Trash fires should never be left unattended, and sternly enforce the rule of staying safely away from stoves, heaters, and furnaces.

Since winter clothes must be made ready for those nearby cold days, remember, all cleaning must be done out of doors. Just a spark from an outlet or telephone can ignite fumes from gasoline, kerosene and many other flammable cleaning fluids. Flammable liquids are among the top causes of farm fires. Non-flammable solvents are fire safe but should be used where vapors cannot be inhaled. Make your home and family safe from fire hazards by "Not giving fire a place to start."

Buy Louisiana Certified Strawberry Plants Now

The list of Louisiana Certified strawberry plants growers has been received. Strawberry plants grown in Louisiana are more adapted to climate and soil conditions of the state than plants grown out of the state. Therefore, you should get your best buy from Louisiana grown plants, provided you order early enough to get quality plants you need. The variety for planting in the home garden is the Konvoy. Remember planting dates are November 1st to 10th in this area.

A Thought For The Homemakers

Homemaking is not confined to the regular appearance of tempting meals on the table, a house decorated tastefully and a wisely balanced budget. The most festive meal, if not served with a dash of happiness and freedom, suddenly becomes plain fare. A charming house, if the corners are filled with "shalt not" signs becomes a place to be avoided. The most successful budgeteer fails completely if she happens to be one who is always reminding her family of the sacrifices she is making. Not material accomplishments, but right family relations are the warp and woof from which the fabric of happy, successful homes are woven. It is not what we are contributing physically to our homemaking that is our best achievement. It is our mental approach to it, what we think and say about it, and how well we integrate the opinions, desires and needs of our family that is the basis essential. A thoughtful study of right family relationship can mean the difference between the bondage of misunderstanding from which we might welcome escape and the unbreakable bonds of understanding which become the unbreakable bonds of security and content. Fifteen of the twenty-one Americans who preferred to remain Communist captors were from broken or neglected homes—a tragic commentary on family life.

MR. AND MRS. VERNON WHITE

White-Albritton Vows Exchanged In Enterprise

Miss Laverne Albritton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lavelle Albritton, of Farmerville, became the bride of Vernon White, of Huttig, Ark., son of Mr. and Mrs. John White, also of Huttig, at 7:30 o'clock Saturday in the Enterprise Baptist Church. The Rev. John Mullins performed the double ring nuptials.

The altar was banked with ivy and featured six palm trees with baskets of white mums and asters in the foreground. White cathedral tapers in branched candelabras illuminated the setting.

Miss Robbie Johnson of Farmerville was organist and accompanied the soloist, Ronnie Brantley of Farmerville.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Morris Albritton, was attired in a traditional white wedding gown of nylon tulle and lace over taffeta with a high neckline and fitted lace bodice and bouffant skirt. Her sleeves came to petal points over the wrist. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion fell in soft folds from a half-hat of lace over satin. She carried a white Bible topped with white asters and carnations with tiny buds tied in long satin streamers.

Mrs. Maurice Cummings of Monroe, served her sister as matron of honor. Her waltz-length gown was a soft green net over taffeta with a sculptured bodice and full skirt. Her headdress was a half-hat of matching net and taffeta and she carried a bouquet of white asters.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Billy C. Albritton and Miss Patricia Morgan of Farmerville. Their waltz-length dresses were blush pink net over taffeta styled to match the honor attendant's. Their bouquets were also of white asters.

Misses Linda Sue Nole of Sterlington and Vickie Vestal of Huttig were the flower girls. Their dresses were of white net over taffeta featuring tiers of pink ruffles. They wore bandeaus of pink net and rosebuds and carried white baskets of pink rose buds.

The candles were lighted by Miss Joye Aulds of Monroe and Mrs. Buddy Williams, cousins of the bride. Their dresses were pink net over taffeta complemented by wrist corsages of white asters.

Billy Ray White of Gould, Ark., brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Harold Cornish, Henry Bowden, Bobby Jones, Bill Atteberry, all of Fayetteville, Ark.

The bride's table, overlaid in an Italian cutwork cloth, held the four-tiered wedding cake and punch service. An arrangement of the attendants' bouquets centered the table.

Mrs. Ruth Hopkins presided at the guest book. Serving the wedding cake was Miss Relda Knox of Monroe and Miss Mary Ann Boatmax served punch.

Assisting with the courtesies were Mrs. Ray Nale of Sterlington and Mrs. J. D. Vestal.

The couple will make their home at 1719 Chadbonne Avenue, Madison, Wis., where the bridegroom is working on his doctor's degree in pathology.

The bride is a graduate of Farmerville High School. The bridegroom graduated from Strong High School and received his B. S. degree from Arkansas A. and M. and master's degree at the University of Arkansas in Fayetteville.

Methodist Home For Orphans Needs Offering

Today is fall "Harvest Day" for the only orphanage that the Methodist Church maintains in Louisiana. It is, as all know, over in Ruston and also its only source of support lies in the collection of an offering at Easter, and one in the fall, the "Harvest" offering.

Every Methodist in the state is urged to donate, be it large or small, for this money is needed badly now when living costs are so high.

A fine group of boys and girls, all orphans, are given the only home they know at the Ruston institution. Some badly needed new buildings have been erected as numbers grow, and still more are required.

This fine institution is the pride of all Methodists in Louisiana for the great work that it is performing for those who are otherwise unable to maintain themselves.

Church Mission Board To Meet Here Tonight

The second meeting of the First Christian Church School of Missions will be held Sunday night, October 9. These are especially prepared programs wherein all age level groups are studying, for the entire month of October, "The Indian American." Each Sunday, beginning at 6 p. m., the especially prepared program will begin with refreshments and a fellowship period. This will be followed by a brief worship period, and then the entire assemblage will break up into age level groups.

The leaders of the adult group are Rev. and Mrs. R. T. Watson. The young people are being led by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Easterling, and Miss Clarice Magill. Mrs. E. H. Williamson, Mrs. A. M. Kite, and Mrs. J. W. Varner are leaders of the intermediate group. The juniors are led by Mrs. M. L. Padget and Mrs. R. O. Ware. Mrs. C. D. Each class is studying the history and habits of the American Indian, in its various phases.

After approximately thirty minute class periods, the entire body will meet again for a general assemblage program. This week this program will be under the leadership of Jack Pankey, Scout executive of the Ouachita Valley Council of the Boy Scouts of America. A most interesting program has been prepared and will include Indian dances and authentic costumes.

0.	James 5:15.	The prayer of faith will save the sick man.
1.	Eph. 5:4.	Let there be no silly talk, nor levity, which are not fitting.
2.	James 4:8.	Cleanse your hands, and purify your hearts, you of double minds.
3.	I Thess. 5:12.	Respect those who labor among you and are over you and admonish you.

JOHN 14:9—"Jesus said to him, 'Have I been with you so long, and yet you do not know me, Philip? He who has seen me has seen the Father; how can you say, Show us the Father?' " (RSV)

Men are known by their discouragements. So are churches. Presently, our churches despair over trivial matters. Inversely, their optimism stems from similar sources. Statistics, numerical growth, programs, and budgets are apparent determinants for one or the other attitude in the average church.

Christ was not so easily discouraged. Granted that the church is now a more complex organization. Nevertheless, the depth of Christ's ministry is evidenced by the source of His discouragements. The scripture above is the clue. Man's failure to understand His mission and nature was the disappointment of Christ. For then his disciples reacted to the same old crises with the same prejudices, hates, fears, and skepticisms. Therein men can cast no triumphant glare at death. The barriers of race, clan, and creed are kept in good repair. The Christian witness is an uncertain sound. "Have I been with you so long, Philip? How can you say, 'Show us the Father?' " Such was the Master's discouragement!

The Brotherhood program for the year to come, October 1955 to October 1956 comprises three major Brotherhood activities as follows:

'Christ Our Lord,' Theme At Aulds Chapel Sunday

"Jesus Christ Our Lord" is the title for a series of messages which will be given on consecutive Sunday nights by the pastor of Aulds Chapel Independent Congregational Church, Calhoun, La.

Rev. Lyman F. Erickson, who is a graduate of the Dallas Bible Institute, Dallas, Texas, and only recently accepted a call to pastor Aulds Chapel, gave his first messages Sunday Oct. 2, at 7 p. m.

Topics in the order of their occurrence are: "The Pre-existence of Christ"; "The Incarnation of Christ"; "The Man Christ Jesus"; "The Sufferings and Death of Christ"; "The Resurrection of Christ"; "The Ascended Christ and His Present Work"; "The Appearing Christ and the Rapture of the Church"; "The Coming of Christ and the Wrath of God"; "The Millennial Reign of Christ"; "Christ and the Great White Throne Judgment"; "Eternity with Christ."

QUESTION: I am beset with doubt all the time because I have no assurance in my heart that I am ready to meet God, and I want to know that I am. Can you give me something on which I can pin my hopes?

ANSWER: Yes, you can pin your hopes on the word of a gentleman: Jesus' own promises; also other promises in His Holy Word. Jesus said: "He that heareth my word, and believeth on Him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death into life." Again He says: "This is the will of Him that sent me, that everyone which seeth the Son, and believeth on Him, may have everlasting life; and I will raise him up at the last day." Many years after Jesus said these words the Apostle John wrote: "These things have I written unto you that believe on the name of the Son of God; that ye may know that ye have eternal life." Paul also gives us these comforting words: "The Spirit Himself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God." Your trouble is probably that you keep looking inward, at yourself. Turn your eyes outward and upward and look at Christ. Accept Him as your own Savor and rest in His promise that you are His child.

Garden Chores Before Frost

For your Sunday afternoon drive go by the Weldin residence, 302 Pargoud drive to see some very beautiful hibiscus. If you haven't been by the Grace Episcopal Church, 1400 North 4th, be sure to include that in your tour. Frances Montgomery is chairman of the grounds committee. Mae Stone is responsibile for the small planting around the church. You get a "lift" just by riding by, there's so much beauty.

Garden News

Mrs. Hewitt brought me a popcorn tree. I don't know the botanical name but from her description it is quite beautiful. My plant is small. In a few years when it blooms (or pops which ever popcorn trees do) I'll tell you all about it. I believe she said Daisy Terzia gave her the seed and she generously shared with me.

Mr. L. L. Price from Northeast Louisiana State College reminded me to remind you not to let frosts and freezes catch the soil dry around your shrubs. North Louisiana freezes seldom damage shrubs when the soil is wet, but extreme dryness causes dehydration. The September rains at my house have only wet the top soil. Watering is still necessary.

October is the month I have most success with rooting verbena. Just put the cuttings in the bed where you plan to leave them and keep them wet. I find verbena grows nicely with the bed mulched. The plants will run on top of the mulch and you'll not have the grass problem.

Get your pansy bed worked and fertilized, ready for plants when the weather gets cooler.

Any time now we may have a frost. Caladium bulbs should be dug before they are frost bitten. Dig the bulbs with no dirt, being careful not to cut the bulb. Let them dry thoroughly, tops and bulbs, then cut off the tops. Store in a box of dry sand or peat moss.

Also before the frosts get here, prune back your hibiscus. You can mulch them heavily and take a chance on the cold not killing them. A better way is to transplant them in buckets. Keep them in a warm place. They must have sun and must be kept watered during the winter months. A sunny window in a utility room is an ideal place. Be sure to take up some dirt with each plant.

Buying Bulbs

Don't look for bargains when buying bulbs. You'll only get what you pay for. If you're planning to plant a hill side or pasture, then you can take advantage of the bargains because they are usually small bulbs that will produce small blossoms. An advertisement that reads "blooming size" means nothing more than that the bulb will bloom.

If you are buying bulbs by the dozen and want choice blooms, buy from your dealers here at home where you can see your bulbs. Buy early and expect to pay fair prices. Good bulbs should be heavy for their size, firm of flesh and plump. They should be free of bruises and scars. Plant them according to the depth recommended for that bulb. The dealer can tell you.

Also remember not only the beauty of the blossoms in early spring, but the ugly disorder the dying tops cause in your garden in later spring. Plan to plant a ground cover around the bulbs, such as one of the ivys, confederate jasmine or trailing periwinkle. If you don't want to give that much of your garden over to ground covers, plan to plant seed of early annuals when you plant your bulbs.

Marketing News

The weather is cooler and appetites call for high energy foods such as rice. Introduce your family to exotic dishes and delicious, hearty meals sparked with rice. You will be joining in a national movement to utilize this year's bountiful harvest. We can buy rice locally, for as little as 1½ cents per serving.

Rice supplies food energy at a low cost. It is largely starch, low in protein, vitamins and minerals, so should be served with foods high in those food values.

The rice you purchase today needs no washing. Washing tends to make the rice sticky or gummy rather than fluffy, tender and in separate grains. Washing rice be- or after cooking removes some of the important food nutrients. When cooking, use twice as much water as rice. Bring to a quick boil, reduce heat, cover for fourteen mintues. Do not stir or peek during that time.

Announcements

There will be a demonstration in making draperies and cornices at the agriculture building, 704 Cypress street West Monroe on Tuesday night, October 11 at 7:30 in the evening. You don't need to register, or bring anything but pencil and paper.

Your "Open House" programs for next week are: Monday, Mrs. bfuller home agent from Tallulah will bring you "The Basic Suit Around the Clock"; Tuesday we'll study foundation garments; Wednesday, Mary Margaret will bring the blue ribbon flower arrangements from the Fifth District Garden Center and Mr. Blackman from Northeast Louisiana College will demonstrate lawn grasses; Thursday, Mr. Huffman from Northeast Louisiana College and American Red Cross will bring you first aid on fractures; Friday is marketing day.

See you next Sunday.

Garden Center Notes

By Mary M. Jardine

Nov. 8, 9 Open For Flower Show School

The Green Thumb Garden club of the Twin Cities presented an all blue ribbon flower show at the Garden Center this week. An accredited judge point scored the exhibits. In the arrangement section Mrs. Fred Hayton, Sr. was awarded first place. Mrs. Hayton designed a rhythmic line mass arrangement in a square dark green container. The beautiful line was established with canna stalks and foliage of the butterfly lily. Salmon pink celosia in a graceful rhythmic line was placed in the foreground. The arrangement was placed on two rectangular black bases. This design was characterized by a feeling of motion. Mrs. J. W. Golson was awarded second place. A bamboo mat set the stage for a symmetrical modern design. Tall spikes of equisetum (horse - tail rush) established the design. Low in the arrangement seed pods of the daubentonia tree were clustered and round little yellow-green gourds completed the design. The container was a shaded green pottery plate. The background color of chartreuse was a perfect setting for this airy design with the gradation of colors from green to yellow-green. Mrs. D. B. Gee was awarded third place. Her container was most interesting. Three slender tubular vases joined together, pink with black in the center. The arrangement was set on a black base. The lovely vertical design was created with lavender altheas, maroon tipped in the center. Airy spikes of purple salvia completed the vertical pattern. Background color soft pink. The color harmony very lovely.

In the horticulture section blue ribbons were awarded as follows: Mrs. Suzee Gorman for daylily, Black Hills, Mrs. D. B. Gee for spray of polyantha roses and for variegated euonymus. Note! The Daubentonia tree mentioned above is commonly known as the Red Locust and grows prolifically in this area. Dates to remember: Our own Ouachita parish fair, October 10 to 15. John Wright's television program on Wednesday October 19 at 1 p.m. and Marie Hoods' program on Wednesday October 26 also at 1 p.m. The Fifth District judges meeting on Wednesday October 12, United Gas Building, at 9:30 a.m. Ferriday Garden Club is sponsoring Flower Show School No. II in case you missed that one. The dates are November 15, 16 and 17. The instructors are Mrs. C. T. Payne of Cannonsburg, Miss., in flower arranging and Mrs. Walter Colquitt of Shreveport in horticulture and flower show practice. For further information write Mrs. U. B. Evans, Haphazard Plantation, Ferriday.

We have just received word that Mrs. Ione Talbert of Fort Worth has the dates of November 8 and 9 open for flower arrangement workshops. If your club is interested please write Mrs. Talbert direct. The address is 2901 May street, Fort Worth, 10 Texas. As mentioned earlier Mrs. Talbert will teach in Flower Show School III in Ruston on November 2, 3 and 4. The little colchium (Meadow Saffron) on my desk is now in bud and will surely bloom this coming week. Be sure to drop in and see it. We should use more of these in our fall garden picture and the sternbergias too. Mrs. J. W. Golson has very kindly loaned the Garden Center her beautiful book, Wild Flowers of America. There are four hundred flowers in full color, among them the Joe Pye weed mentioned by Lanier Hunt. Come by and see this lovely book.

Home means many things to many people. To the housewife, who has spent countless hours in the kitchen, the thought of home might bring to mind the aroma of her or her family's favorite dish.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Home . . . It's All Of The Best In Human Experience

"Home" is a wonderful word! When a person says it spontaneously and with warmth it encompasses all of the best in human experience.

Home means understanding, a lift when you need it, love you can depend on, happiness, fun. It means conversation around the fireplace, a return to loved and nostalgic habits of life. Home is a perpetual welcome. There you can warm your heart at the hearth of belonging.

Yes, home means many things to many people. To the housewife, who has spent countless hours in the kitchen, the thought of home might bring to mind the aroma of her or her family's favorite dish. And home can be roses by the door, a hot cup on a cold day and a cold glass on a hot day, the sound of the old familiar clock, furniture so well loved and remembered that each piece seems to be a member of the family.

Perhaps you do not have a home of this sort. Unfortunately not all homes are like this. Then perhaps you have made, or can make, many lesser homes for yourself. To enlarge on the meaning of home—you are at home whenever you feel completely at ease and can be yourself without fear of misunderstanding and without self consciousness. Your home may be a person, or a spot from which you watch the sunset or the sunrise, a chapel where you often spend a quiet hour.

It may be a crowded subway where you feel a part of teeming humanity or a book which inspires or consoles you or a piece of music you have long loved. It may be the first snowfall or the first flower of spring. If you are lucky it may even be the home of others who accept you as their own.

Whenever you feel at peace with yourself and with life, even for a short time, you are at home, wherever you are.

Today I am suggesting that if you do not have the perfect home as we think of home, and even if you do, you enrich our life by developing more of these other homes. They are all about you, waiting to be lived in.

Ward Requests Voters Support Of School Bonds

W. W. Ward, superintendent of the Ouachita parish school system, yesterday urged support of the $5,200,000 school bond issue scheduled to be voted on in Ouachita parish Tuesday.

The bonds are for improvements to the schools in Ouachita parish, and Ward asked that all tax payers support the bond issue fully.

The school superintendent also reminded that numerous civic and professional groups have endorsed the bond issue. These include the Ouachita Parish Council of the Parent Teachers Association, most of the local P.-T. A. units, the Monroe - West Monroe Chamber of Commerce, the West Monroe Kiwanis, the West Monroe Lions Club, the League of Women Voters, and a number of other groups.

BUGS?

RUSTON, La. — UP — J.M. Doss brought his car to mechanic Ernest Goree and said he wanted the "bugs" ironed out.

Goree raised the hood and peered into the engine. A four-foot moccasin stared coldly back at him. Goree got the snake out by "charming" it with a two - foot crescent wrench.

SOUTHERN GARDENER—

By William Lanier Hunt

Perennials With Shrubs For Effect

We do not have to wait for the leaves to fall to start working on the perennial border or the groups of these permanent plants about the yard and garden. Here in the south where so many perennials which grow well in the north will not stand our heat, drought and long season, most everybody grows groups of perennials in front of shrubbery. A combination of the tough kinds of perennials with flowering shrubs makes a beautiful effect, and when masses of bulbs can be planted, too, the whole effect can be as dazzling as anything seen in northern gardens if not more so.

The spreading and the clump types of p rennials exhaust the soil in two or three seasons, no matter how well you keep them fed. They just make so many little plants n a tight bunch that they do not have the physical room in which to grow to normal size. Now is the time to lift these clumps and separate them. Salvias, veronicas, daylilies, phloxes and other plants which grow and spread like these can be divided to good advantage. In the long season between now and spring, they will get ready for a big flowering season again.

Be sure to dig in some form of humus and to add a big handful of bone meal per plant before you replant perennials where others have stood. The bone meal will insure a good supply of phosphorous for several seasons. A complete fertilizer can be spread over the surface after the plants are set out, and rains will water it in.

Looking back over some very hot and dry summers, here is a list of tough perennials. These are some of the best actors in our climate: Time: Right after Japanese irises —Salvia farinacea, new varieties of red - hot pokers, veronicas Blue Spires and Blue Champion, many early daylilies, new Shasta daisies (or old), lythrum Morden Pink, stokesias. These plants overlap with the main daylily season. The veronicas and salvias provide blue with the yellows and oranges of the daylilies and red - hot pokers. The red - hot pokers are a nice contrast in shape to the daylilies. Be sure to plant veronica Blue Spires in front of Blue Champion because the spires seem to lie on the ground like a ground cover!

When the daylilies are gone in mid - summer and the summer phloxes are going strong, some of the following perennials and bulbs will make a fine show in the garden: Montbretias Earlham Hybrids (Plant them four inches deep or they will dry up or topple over), aster Wonder of Staffa (mulch it to keep it through the heat), galtonias for the back of the beds, Veronica longifolia subsessilis (this is the blue flower supreme for summer and into the fall. Keep it fed and watered and preened for a long show.) crinum Cecil Houdyshel (a gorgeous big pink crinum — needs plenty of room and food), rudbeckia The King (deep odd shade of pink) and White Lustre, buddleia White Cloud, crinum Ellen Bosanquet (a true wine color. Stars earlier.)

At the end of the summer, Wilson's variety of the Formosa lily will delight you. Mine went up to twelve feet this year in the rains. Colchicums, liriope, physostegia and the rosea (not the common) variety of Sedum spectabile make a big show of pink lavender.

New, 1956 General Electric
FILTER-FLO Washer
Removes Lint, Sand and Soap Scum

Matching G-E Dryer, Model DA720N

How the G-E FILTER-FLO Washer Works

This new General Electric Washer circulates and filters your wash water at the rate of six gallons per minute—to give you whiter, brighter clothes.

As the Filter-Flo Washing System circulates the water, sand settles out the bottom of washbasket, soap scum floats away, lint is trapped in the filter, which lets only cleansed, sudsy water flow back into the washbasket.

Big Capacity, too!

This new G-E has over 50% more clothes capacity than many other automatics. No need to split a big wash into two separate loads. Plus Water Saver Control for small loads.

Navy Runs Up Distress Signals; Finally Has To Call For Manpower Draft

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—After priding itself for years on being strictly a volunteer outfit, the Navy has run up the distress signal: it is starting to draft some of its sailors.

Some 10,000 recruits are to be called up in November as the Navy resorts to selective service for the first time since World War II, when all the services were under orders to get their men by the draft.

Behind the decision lies the fact that skilled men are leaving the Navy far more rapidly than they can be replaced, even though overall manpower requirements are being cut 14 per cent to 657,000.

Last year 126,793 men were separated from the Navy and only 12,885 — 10.2 per cent — ren-enlisted.

Sixty per cent of the Navy's enlisted men are due for discharge within the next two years, and not many are planning to stick around.

An official Navy spokesman said before the draft decision that if the trend continues there is a real danger the United States will have a fleet of first-class ships with second-rate, green crews.

What really hurts is the departure of technicians. Only 8 per cent of the petty officer electricians re-enlisted last year and only 1.2 per cent of the apprentice electricians, whereas 80 per cent of the steward's mates shipped over.

Over-all, only 11.1 per cent of the second class petty officers and 7.5 per cent of the third class petty officers re-enlisted. These are the ranks from which the Navy draws its highly skilled men for the future.

On the fourth floor of the Pentagon there is a slender former lieutenant commander who is as close to the problem as any admiral. He is Albert Pratt, 44, an ex-investment broker who a year ago was named assistant secretary of the Navy for manpower.

Since he took on this job Pratt has subjected the Navy to a stem-to-stern inspection. He travels almost constantly from station to station inside the Navy. As much as anyone he knows what is going on inside the minds of the enlisted men—and maybe those of their wives too.

Often Pratt's wife, the former Alice Lee of Brookline, Mass., travels with him. She meets with enlisted Navy wives over coffee to find out what they're peeved about.

"For some reason," said Pratt, "women will talk more freely to each other than men do."

Pratt thinks he knows why men are leaving — pay, prolonged sea duty, shortages of housing, lack of medical care for dependants, and lack of prestige or public appreciation for the uniform.

Right now Pratt is trying to get a message through to the Navy's gold braid.

"I think we are going to have a married man's Navy instead of a bachelor's," he said in an interview, "and we are going to have to adjust to that."

Pratt pointed out, for example, that 75 per cent of the Navy's second class petty officers are married. Back in the 1920s and '30s the average was 25 per cent. And often family life and naval careers pull in opposite directions.

The Navy's world commitments are such that two thirds of it men are on sea duty at all times. Some men spend up to 12 years at sea before being granted two years of shore duty.

Pratt said a survey is under way to increase the number of shore billets and that a program of scheduling ship rotation is in the works so a man can make definite plans to be with his family.

Even so it still takes a given number of men to man the Navy's 1,112 ships on active duty all around the world from Japan through the Persian Gulf — and a man aboard ship is a man away from home.

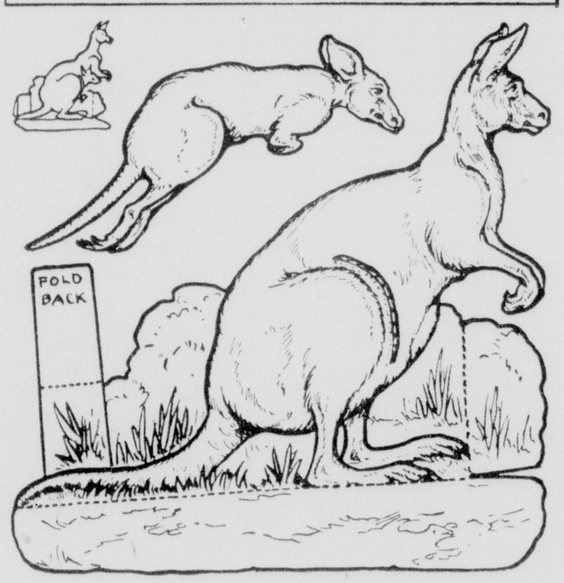
TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS



THE LAND OF DOWN UNDER—6

The Kangaroo

When most of us think of Australia, we think of the kangaroo. Out in the back country near the sheep station, our Junior Editors saw a real live one.

An "old man" kangaroo 6 feet tall, he was sitting up on his big hind legs and leaning back on his tail, as one might use a three-legged stool. Then he went bounding off across the plain.

Later at the zoo in Melbourne, the Junior Editors learned there are many kinds of kangaroos and related animals—all of them marsupials that carry their young ones in pouches.

Quick to run when alarmed, they are dangerous when cornered because of their powerful legs. They live on grass. Like many other native Australian animals, this one has suffered greatly from hunters and dogs.

Now, to complete your Australian collection, paste this picture down on cereal box cardboard and color the kangaroo brownish gray with crayons. Cut them out along the heavy black lines and cut through the slit in the mother's side. When you have made her stand up by folding the bottom and side panels forward and back as indicated, slip the small kangaroo into its mother's pouch. A real kangaroo's pouch of course is not on its side, but in front.

FISH?

George Bernard Shaw was a caustic critic of spelling absurdities in the English language.

He once announced that "fish" could be spelled G-H-O-T-I.

Here is how the great author's reasoning went:

Pronounce the "gh" as in "enough," the "O" as in "women," the "ti" as in "nation." And fish it is.

Audie's Life Story

HOLLYWOOD, October 8 — I made a quick trip from Universal-International Studios to Yakima, Washington, where Audie Murphy was making combat sequences at the Yakima Firing Center of the Fort Lewis artillery range, for "To Hell and Back."

When I arrived our film troupe was in the middle of the toughest sequence of the picture, the incident for which Murphy won his Congressional Medal of Honor by climbing on a burning tank, calling down artillery fire on his own area and holding off a company of German infantrymen with the tank's machine gun.

Two cameras were grinding, 300 Nazi soldiers were advancing over the bodies of dead comrades and "Murph" stood on the tank turret, gritting his teeth as his body shook in staccato rhythm to the recoil of a blazing .50 calibre machine gun. The it jammed.

Director Jesse Hibbs called, "Cut!" and Audie let out a mild curse followed by, "Murdock! Hey, Bob Murdock. Get out your screw driver so we can go back to the war." "If that had happened in France," he said, grinning, "you wouldn't have had a picture."

Hearing Murphy say that was a relief. It was worth the trip. As a producer my primary concern is always the temper of my players and "To Hell and Back" was the most delicate assignment I'd ever had in this respect. It was Audie's life story and he had written the book. Back at the studios we had all been apprehensive about his mood when actually reliving the scenes of struggle and unbelievable battlefield courage which made him great.

He is the first hero in history to portray himself on the screen. Would he be able to maintain the energy, the creative spark, the dynamics of character to play the scenes with the same authenticity with which he lived them? My big fear had been that he would become moody, retire into himself and this low key could affect the role. To find him with a sense of humor about the biggest scene of his life was like taking a breath of fresh air on coming out of a cave.

We talked on while the prop man repaired the weapon and Audie said, "Rosie, I hope we're not going overboard on this hero business. I'm being a lot braver in this war than I was in the other one."

"Murph" had been emphatic from the moment we decided to screen his battle story that this picture wouldn't simply be "ten hard lessons on how to become a hero as taught by Audie Murphy It would be a glorification of the infantryman, the story of the heartbreaking daily life of the men of Company B, 15th Infantry, 3d Division in combat. We had an Army technical advisor and we had the finest cooperation I have ever known from the 2n Infantry Division which was the 44th when we worked with its officers and men. But it was "Murph" himself who really did the technical advising.

One day I saw Audie standing at the edge of a shell crater with the "standby" painter in deep discussion. He was showing the painter exactly how deep to color the sides of the crater so that it would look like a fresh blast had just taken place. He inspected uniforms and weapons of both doughboys and Germans. He worked side by side with the special-effects man to create explosions exactly as he had known them at Anzio, the Volturno River and in the Vosge Mountains of France. He insisted on detonations just short of suicide and he also insisted on the utmost precautions. He worked with Director Jesse Hibbs to arrange that he Murphy, would be the first through the worst explosions.

His formula? Two - and - a - half pounds of TNT in every charge, the equivalent of the explosive used in a 90 mm gun.

Making "To Hell and Back" was an experience which I never hope to top. Perhaps the most amazing part of the whole thing was the serenity with which "Murph" lived through the personal cataclysms that made him the most decorated soldier of World War II. Never once did I get a report that he had been hard to handle, yet he had more right to be temperamental than any star I've known. Playing one's self is the most difficult assignment a player can get.

TWO'S COMPANY in a moment for lovers, as Jennifer Jones and William Holden demonstrate in this scene from "Love Is a Many-Splendored Thing," Twentieth Century-Fox's new CinemaScope production in color by De Luxe opening next Sunday at the Paramount Theatre. Based on Han Suyin's autobiographical best-seller about the love of an Eurasian woman doctor and a newspaperman in Hong Kong, the film has been written by John Patrick, directed by Henry King and produced by Buddy Adler.

Russell And Lamas Will Star In 'The Girl Rush'

A great cast, a fun-loaded story, lavish musical and production numbers, and girls, girls, girls are the enticing ingredients of "The Girl Rush," the Paramount extravaganza opening Thursday at the Paramount Theatre. Starring Rosalind Russell, Fernando Lamas Eddie Albert and Gloria De Haven, and set in fabulous Las Vegas, the Super-Musical promises to be the biggest, brightest and boldest we've seen in these parts in many a moon.

Fans of Roz Russell, and their numbers are enormous, have been delighted time and again by her memorable and deft protrayal of comedy and dramatic roles, but with "The Girl Rush" they have a new and wonderful treat in store for them. Recently, Roz scored a tremendous hit on Broadway in the musical comedy, "Wonderful Town," displaying hitherto unsuspected talents. Now, fresh from that success, she plays her first screen song-and-dance role, and the entertainment world is agog over the prospect of the unlimited scope the screen will allow her.

But this is a Super-Musical, and right along with Miss Russell's are the outstanding talents of three of screendom's brightest stars: the extraordinarily handsome Fernando Lamas, singing and romancing in his inimitable fashion; Eddie Albert, one of the most versatile performers in all of show business; and Gloria De Haven, beautiful, shapely, and an exciting dancer. Add the comedy touches of perennial favorite, James Gleason, and Marion Lorne, the riotously funny "Mrs. Gurney" of the "Mr. Peepers" TV show, plus scores of lovely girls, and you have a cast that is bursting with pure entertainment value.

Filmed in lush VistaVision and color by Technicolor, "The Girl Rush" is the first musical with Las Vegas, the mecca for the thrill-seekers of the world, as its glittering and glamorous setting. Advance showing audiences and critics have hailed it as crackling with the excitement of the wide-open spirit of the nation's brashest town. Don't miss "The Girl Rush." It's certain to be a completely captivating motion picture experience.

Eartha Kitt To Make Television Debut On Sunday

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "You never know you've got the talent until you try it." So says Eartha Kitt and she should know.

She first found fame as singer in the Broadway revue, "New Faces." Then she scored as a record star with runaway hits like "C'est Si Bon" and "Santa Baby." She became a night club headliner and then went back to Broadway as a dramatic star in "Mrs. Patterson." Now she's blossoming out as a TV dancer and is writing her life story, to be published next year.

Eartha recently discussed her careers between dance rehearsals for NBC's color spectacular, "Show Biz," which hits the home screens this Sunday.

Eartha had been insinuating her way through a dance of the '20s with dance coach Tony Charmoli, who said he never had a star who learned routines so fast. Eartha was originally set only to sing on the show but she took over some dances when shirley MacLaine bowed out for a movie date.

"This is the first time I've really danced since I became a star," remarked Eartha, who actually got her start in Katherine Dunham's dance troupe.

"I've taken a few steps on the Ed Sullivan show, but that's all they'll let me do. Whenever I dance, they get a lot of letters complaining that I was sinuous and licentious."

It's pretty hard for her to avoid being sexy. She has a slinky, catlike grace and large, expressive eyes. She looks good even in her rehearsal outfit—a long, white, man's shirt over tight black trousers.

Concerning still another career, she said she had taken up writing while touring with the Dunham troupe in Europe. At first she wrote poems. A couple of years ago, she started writing her life story, a fantastic tale of a rise from poverty.

New Television Dramatic Show Promises To Make One Of Best On Screens

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—A new dramatic show appeared on television this week which promises to be one of the hand-picked best on the screen. It is Playwrights '56, appearing on alternate Tuesday evenings with Armstrong Circle Theater over NBC-TV.

Here at last is the answer to those who are tired of the $64,000 Question (CBS-TV). Both hour-long dramatic shows have the task of holding their audiences beyond the first half-hour mark when the popular question program starts on the opposition network. Playwrights '56 succeeded admirably this week—at least for one viewer.

Its original production was "The Answer," a dramatization of Philip Wylie's fantasy about an experimental thermonuclear bomb blast that plummeted an angel to earth. Producer Fred Coe and director Delbert Mann chose a realistic approach to the fantastic theme of a dead angel. They were wise. If they'd spun it in the goasamer of fantasy much of the great viewing audience would have fallen through their web.

Paul Douglas was ideally cast as a hard-headed general who became the only survivor of those who saw the dead angel. He believed, and his belief was put to the test of the disbelief of scientists and generals. He wavered and finally found a faith that was credible to his audience because he had first proven himself a skeptic. It was an old—and a great—theme, intelligently adapted to television. To have belabored its overtones further would have spoiled it.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

1. In a majority of cases, yes. The experiences of married veterans provided extensive examples. Sociologist J. T. Landis asked 544 married college couples, "Knowing what you do now, would you marry before finishing college?" Three-fourths said "yes"; one-fourth, "no", or were doubtful. Husbands were more doubtful than wives were — but only because of the added responsibility. Most wives said the sacrifice was worthwhile, and others said it was no sacrifice.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. A group of psychologists had 255 high school students check numerous statements about "work" from the Bible and great writers. Analysis showed 40 per cent would rather make money by luck or as a gift than to "work" for it. Three in five would choose a profession rather than physical labor — doctor, lawyer, teacher, welfare worker, etc. One - half considered "most work rewarding." A majority disagreed with the old concept of the "honorableness" of work.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. I have seen children (even adults) who were timid and shrinking or egotistical and aggressive problem children transformed into poised and confident personalities in a few weeks when placed in a special reading room and taught to catch up in reading. Some had high IQ. Every child and adult, not mentally defective, can be made into a good reader and a practically perfect speller by modern methods. Our booklet, "How To Read Faster and Better," has helped thousands. Nonprofit, 15 cents (coin only) and stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Shell Dedicates New Norco Plant

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 8 (Special) — Its new allyl chloride and chlorohydrins plant at Norco, La., which has substantially increased the nation's supply of glycerine and Epon resins, was formally dedicated yesterday by Shell Chemical Corporation.

R. C. McCurdy, president of the company, pointed out at the dedication ceremonies that because of this plant Shell Chemical is now the country's largest supplier of glycerine. Whereas two years ago the concern was making about one-fifth of the United States' output, it is now making more than one-third.

At present the Norco plant's output is shipped to the Shell Chemical plant at Houston for final processing into glycerine, one of the most widely used industrial chemicals, and Epon resins.

Further expansion of the plant is planned. The first addition, construction of which will begin soon, will be a unit designed to make more than 30,000,000 pounds a year of hydrogen peroxide. Ultimately, according to McCurdy, an acrolen unit and a unit designed to produce glycerine by an entirely new process utilizing hydrogen peroxide and acrolein will be built.

Guest of honor was Louisiana Governor Robert F. Kennon, who spoke briefly on the economic benefits to the people of the state from the growth of the petroleum and petrochemical industries. More than 400 persons from the nearby area attended, including New Orleans Mayor deLesseps S. Morrison, St. Charles Parish Sheriff Leon C. Vial, Jr., and Congressman Hale Boggs. Frank E. Caddy, plant manager, presided.

Oil companies and independent operators have leased over 315 million acres of land in the United States — about 17 per cent of the nation's total land area.

The bidding:

North, pass; East, pass; South, 1 spade; West, 2 diamonds. North 4 spades; East, pass; South, pass; West, pass.

Opening lead: King of diamonds.

By a neat bit of dummy technique, South was able to save his partnership from the effects of North's effervescence by bringing home the four spade contract in today's hand.

The third postion opening of one spade is quite normal. After West's overcall of two diamonds, North permitted the possession of six trumps to produce an unjustified palpitation of the heart, with the resultant outburst of four spades. With no high card outside of the trump suit, it would have been more discreet for North to allow his partner some leeway , to provide for the contingency that he opened with a shaded third hand bid.

Declarer ruffed high and then set about to hold his loss in the heart suit to one trick. This was anything but a rosy prospect. Unless one of the defenders held a doubleton heart containing a high honor, he was ready to give up the ghost. He played a club to the ace and ruffed a club in dummy, returned to his hand with a trump and ruffed the remaining club. He then pulled the last outstanding trump and played a heart to the ace, and a heart back. West was in with queen and found himself in a helpless position. Whether he led a club or a diamond, declarer could ruff in dummy and discard the losing heart from his hand. If under the ace of hearts West had dropped the queen, declarer would have continued heart and as West played the ten, he would be permitted to hold the trick, for East could not afford to overtake.

It was pointed out to declarer that had West shifted to a heart at trick two, the contract would have been defeated. To which South replied, "If from that holding West had dared to make the play, I would have been in favor of awarding him a trophy then and there."

2 State Hearings Slated This Week

Two statewide oil and gas hearings will be held at International House in New Orleans on Monday and Tuesday this week.

Statewide gas proration schedules and statewide gas drilling units will be dealt with at the Monday hearing, which will open at 1 p.m.

At the Tuesday hearing, which will begin at 9 a.m., the Conservation department will receive information on market demands for oil to fix oil allowables for November and December.

The nation's oil companies handed out more than 150 million free road maps during 1954. At least $7.5 million worth were given to the public during the spring and summer of 1955.

EXPLORING FOR OIL IS OUR BUSINESS!

The search for OIL is one of the world's riskiest businesses. Even with the most modern scientific equipment and know-how, the odds against finding oil are enormous.

We are proud to have a part in this fascinating industry and accept these risks as part of the game.

We are happy to be numbered among those thousands who have a part in AMERICA'S progressive competitive oil industry—an industry devoted to your service.

Oil Progress Week Big In Scope, Impact

For the eighth consecutive year, the American Oil Industry will hold open house during October, when it reports to the people on its operations and progress.

Oil Progress Week, sponsored by the Oil Industry Information Committee of the American Petroleum Institute, will be held this year beginning Sunday, October 9. During those seven days, thousands of dealers, jobbers, refiners, transporters, and producers will help sponsor community activities designed to acquaint millions of Americans with their oil industry.

Of particular interest this year will be the Hollywood film, "Barrel Number One," a dramatic documentary featuring the processes involved in the production, processing and distribution of a barrel of oil, as seen through the eyes of a field geologist, a pipeliner, a refinery superintendent, and other workers.

The purpose of Oil Progress Week is to afford the people of the oil industry an opportunity to give their neighbors in the communities where they live and do business an accounting of their stewardship of a vitally important industry.

Many Activities

This accounting will be rendered in many different ways. There will be speeches at business and civic luncheons, dinners, and other gatherings. There will be special radio and TV programs, exhibits, displays, parades, fairs, and special newspaper coverage. Proclamations by governors and mayors will stress the significance of the observance. Contributions made by America's 42,000 oil businessmen and 200,000 service stations to American progress will also be emphasized in leaflets, pamphlets, booklets, bulletins, editorials, special magazine articles, billboards, window displays, and other media.

Oil companies this year will designate some 200 of their employees to help organize Oil Progress week. These men will work in well over a thousand communities to help ensure successful observance — and to obtain valuable experience themselves.

Dealers to Help

In addition, an estimated 10,000 dealers throughout the country will help bring the story of oil to American citizens. This will be done by means ranging from beauty contests and fashion shows to the mailing of millions of letters and booklets stressing oil's theme of progress and service to the country. There will be hundreds of oil employee meetings as well as open houses and plant tours for community groups, teachers and students, and other organizations.

Activities this year will be arranged on a hometown basis. They will be sponsored by local Oil Industry Information Committees — local townsmen reporting to their friends, neighbors, and customers, with whom they share civic trust and responsibility.

In designating October 9th as the beginning of Oil Progress week, oil men and companies hope to contribute information not generally known — information showing how one segment of free, competitive, private enterprise contributes to the nation's social and economic progress.

Building Planner Coming To Monroe To Aid 'Y' Here

Nock has many years experience in the YMCA building field and can be of tremendous help to local leaders in their building planning. He will make suggestions as to the type of YMCA building needed in the Twin Cities along with suggested sites for a suitable location and other details.

Big four - engined planes can take over 5,000 gallons of gasoline at a fueling, and burn it up at a rate of 600 gallons an hour.

For the eleventh straight year, oil men chalked up new highs in our reserves of liquid petroleum and natural gas last year. The 1954 figures stand at 34.8 billion barrels and 211.7 trillion cubic feet respectively.

Petroleum Aids U. S. Economy

Aside from economists, few people realize the contribution made by the oil business to the economic progress of this country. These contributions are best summed up by six points:

1. The petroleum industry is closely associated historically with the progress of the total economy, not only in the United States but throughout the world. A hundred years ago, 94 per cent of the work done in this nation was performed by the muscles of men or animals; only 6 per cent was done by machines. Today, those figures are more than reversed: only one per cent of work is performed by muscle - power while the other 99 per cent is dependent on what statisticians call "other energy." Oil and natural gas provide some two-thirds of that "other energy."

2. In terms of technical research, improvement of products, and creation of new products, the oil business is exceptionally progressive. Oil research, for example, has created new goods and totally new industries, thereby making significant contributions to the improvement of our standard of living. One example is the fact that two gallons of gasoline today do more work than three gallons did 25 years ago.

3. Since the oil business is highly competitive, its prices have risen considerably less than those of other industries producing goods important to our daily living. Constantly - improved quality and better prices mean that the consumer obtains better values. The price of a gallon of gasoline in 1955, for example, is only slightly higher (excluding taxes) than it was in 1925.

4. Workers in the oil business are among the best paid employees of all American industry, not only in direct salaries but also in terms of the so - called "fringe" benefits. According to the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, workers in all industires of the U. S. receive $720 annually in fringe benefits. Workers in the oil industry receive an average of $1,178 a year in such fringe benefits.

5. Wise investors in our economy have confidence in the oil business and have made available vast sums in capital for its continued growth. The oil industry today is growing at the rate of between four and five billion dollars a year in new capital.

6. American petroleum companies have provided a backlog of reserve energy that can be thrown into the breach in any national emergency. This protective cushion, earmarked for defense, averages one million barrels a day — the minimum needed for immediate safety.

Obviously, other industries could make similar claims. Yet these six points constitute solid evidence that the oil industry of the United States is a pacemaker in building ever higher standards of living for the people of our nation — and in protecting those standards under our free, American system of private, competitive enterprise.

Inside the Research Laboratory at Humble's Baytown, Texas, Refinery.

Research Paces Oil's Progress

There are three reasons why America's petroleum industry has been able to supply the ever-increasing demand for energy called for by our mechanized way of life: 1, it has fearlessly invested its capital in the hazardous search for oil and gas; 2, it has steadily expanded its facilities; and 3, it has conducted endless research to find better, more efficient ways to make the oil products America needs.

Research! That's the key to the petroleum industry's progress. And the Humble Company assures itself a place of leadership in this field with two great research laboratories.

In the Humble Research Center in Houston scientists and engineers study all phases of finding, producing, and conserving oil and gas.

In the Research Laboratory at Humble's Baytown, Texas, Refinery, highly skilled technicians seek to develop new and better petroleum products, to improve those we already have, and to develop methods for making these products more efficiently.

Just as America's progress depends on oil, so oil's progress depends on research.

Petroleum Industry To Begin Oil Celebration With Look Into Future

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 — UP— The petroleum industry begins celebrating oil progress week Sunday with a look into the future—what life will be like for Americans in 1976, 200th anniversary of the republic

The celebration is an annual affair but this time the sponsor, the American Petroleum Institute, has gone all out to make it a memorable occasion.

The kickoff event will be "1976," an hour-long television show.

Featured stars will include Sid Caesar, Nanette Fabray, Arlene Francis and Wally Cox. Dave Garroway will be narrator. Others on the show will include poet Carl Sandburg and Fleet Adm. Chester Nimitz of World War II fame.

To Show Oil's Value

Major purpose of the celebration is to apprise the people of what oil and its by-products have meant in their daily lives and what they can expect in the future.

The TV show will combine science and humor in a glimpse of the facilities, conveniences and comforts expected to be available 21 years from now.

Elsewhere there will be thousands of special events in communities from Coast to Coast. These will include parades, speeches, meetings, rallies, contests, special editions of newspapers, and radio and television shows.

Service stations and other oil installations will be decorated with banners and placards proclaiming the progress of oil. In 105 cities there will be "lucky neighbor" programs at which three million contest folders will be distributed.

At the end of the week drawings will be held and prizes will range from baskets of groceries to expenses-paid trips to Bermuda and other places.

Another feature will be showings of the industry's new move, "barrel No. 1." This is an educational film on how oil is explored for, discovered, produced, transported, refined and consumed. It traces the barrel' flow through the industry's complex maze to the consumer's door.

The movie is a sequel to two other stories of oil—"The Story of Colonel Drake" and "The American Frontier."

Al Goodman Music

Music for the television show will include an original score composed and conducted by Al Goodman who has been in show business 40 years.

Bible Records Oil 6,000 Years Ago

Petroleum has been called the "bloodstream of modern life." While it remained for the American system of free enterprise to perfect the uses of petroleum, oil has been known — and used — since cavemen first employed the scum of a saltpool in their sacrificial rites.

The first recorded use of a petroleum product is found in the Bible where, we read, the Lord commanded Noah: "Make an ark of gopher wood . . . and thou shalt pitch it within, and without with pitch." This pitch was petroleum asphalt, still found abundantly in Mesopotamia where Noah lived.

615 B. C. Oil discovered in Japan.

450 B. C. Refinery, using oil collected from salt water springs, opened at Susa, Persia.

38 B. C. Mark Antony captures Dead Sea and gives asphalt fishery there to Cleopatra as a present. She leases it to Malthus the Nabataeau for 200 talents a year.

1400 A. D. Oil used for illumination in Italy.

1775 A. D. George Washington buys land at Burning Spring, Va., because of a spring on it yielding a liquid "so inflammable as to burn as freely as spirits and nearly as difficult to extinguish."

1833 A. D. Oil found in Pennsylvania salt wells.

1848 A. D. Oil from two salt wells near Pittsburgh bottled and sold as "Kiers Petroleum or Rock Oil, a Liquid of Wonderful Medical Values."

1866 A. D. First Texas oil well.

1876 A. D. First petroleum asphalt paving in the United States.

1901 A. D. The Spindletop Gusher, inaugurating modern oil age.

1917 A. D. First house oil burner. burner.

1955 A. D. Oil Progress Week begins October 9th; estimated petroleum production in the United States this year: 2,386,000,000 barrels.

In the past 15 years, power farming with petroleum - fueled machinery has tripled the acreage each farmer is capable of working.

Patriotic Script Contest Slated For Students Here

Local schools have made plans to conduct the Voice of Democracy contest according to Ben Marshall, president of the Monroe-West Monroe Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Voice of Democracy is a script writing and voicing competition which gives high school students an opportunity to consider, write and speak of the Democratic fundamentals. Contest entries are judged according to the contest, delivery and originality of five minute scripts on the subject "I Speak for Democracy."

Now in its ninth year as a national program, Voice of Democracy has drawn more than 6,500,000 participants from public, private and parochial high schools. Nearly one million students, representing all 48 states, Hawaii, Alaska, and the District of Columbia, are expected to participate this year.

"Students in the 10th, 11th, and 12th, grades are encouraged to enter the local contest," Jaycee Ben Marshall said. The local winner, to be selected November 7, will be entered in the state contest, vieing for honors and awards which will include a television set.

Four co-equal national winners, selected from the state entries, will receive an expense-free trip to Washington during the week of Washington's birthday. While there, they will be received by the president, members of Congress and other top-level government officials. Each will be presented a scholarship check for $500, a national trophy and television set.

Contest particulars are now being made to high schools the community, according to President Marshall. Further information may be obtained by telephoning 2-4165.

Endorsed by the U. S. Office of Education and approved by the National Association of Secondary School Principals, Voice of Democracy is sponsored by the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters, Radio-Electronics - Television Manufacturers Association and the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce.

It costs between two and three times as much to produce a barrel of oil from an offshore site as it does on land.

It's a fact that:

● That mounts up to a lot of gasoline when you figure that there are 9 cars for every 8 U. S. families. But thanks to the constant search for new sources of oil by U. S. oilmen, this tremendous demand is always met.

This is just one reason why we're so proud to be part of America's competitive, progressive oil industry that brings you ample supplies of the finest oil products at the world's lowest prices. Here's our promise that we'll continue to serve you well.

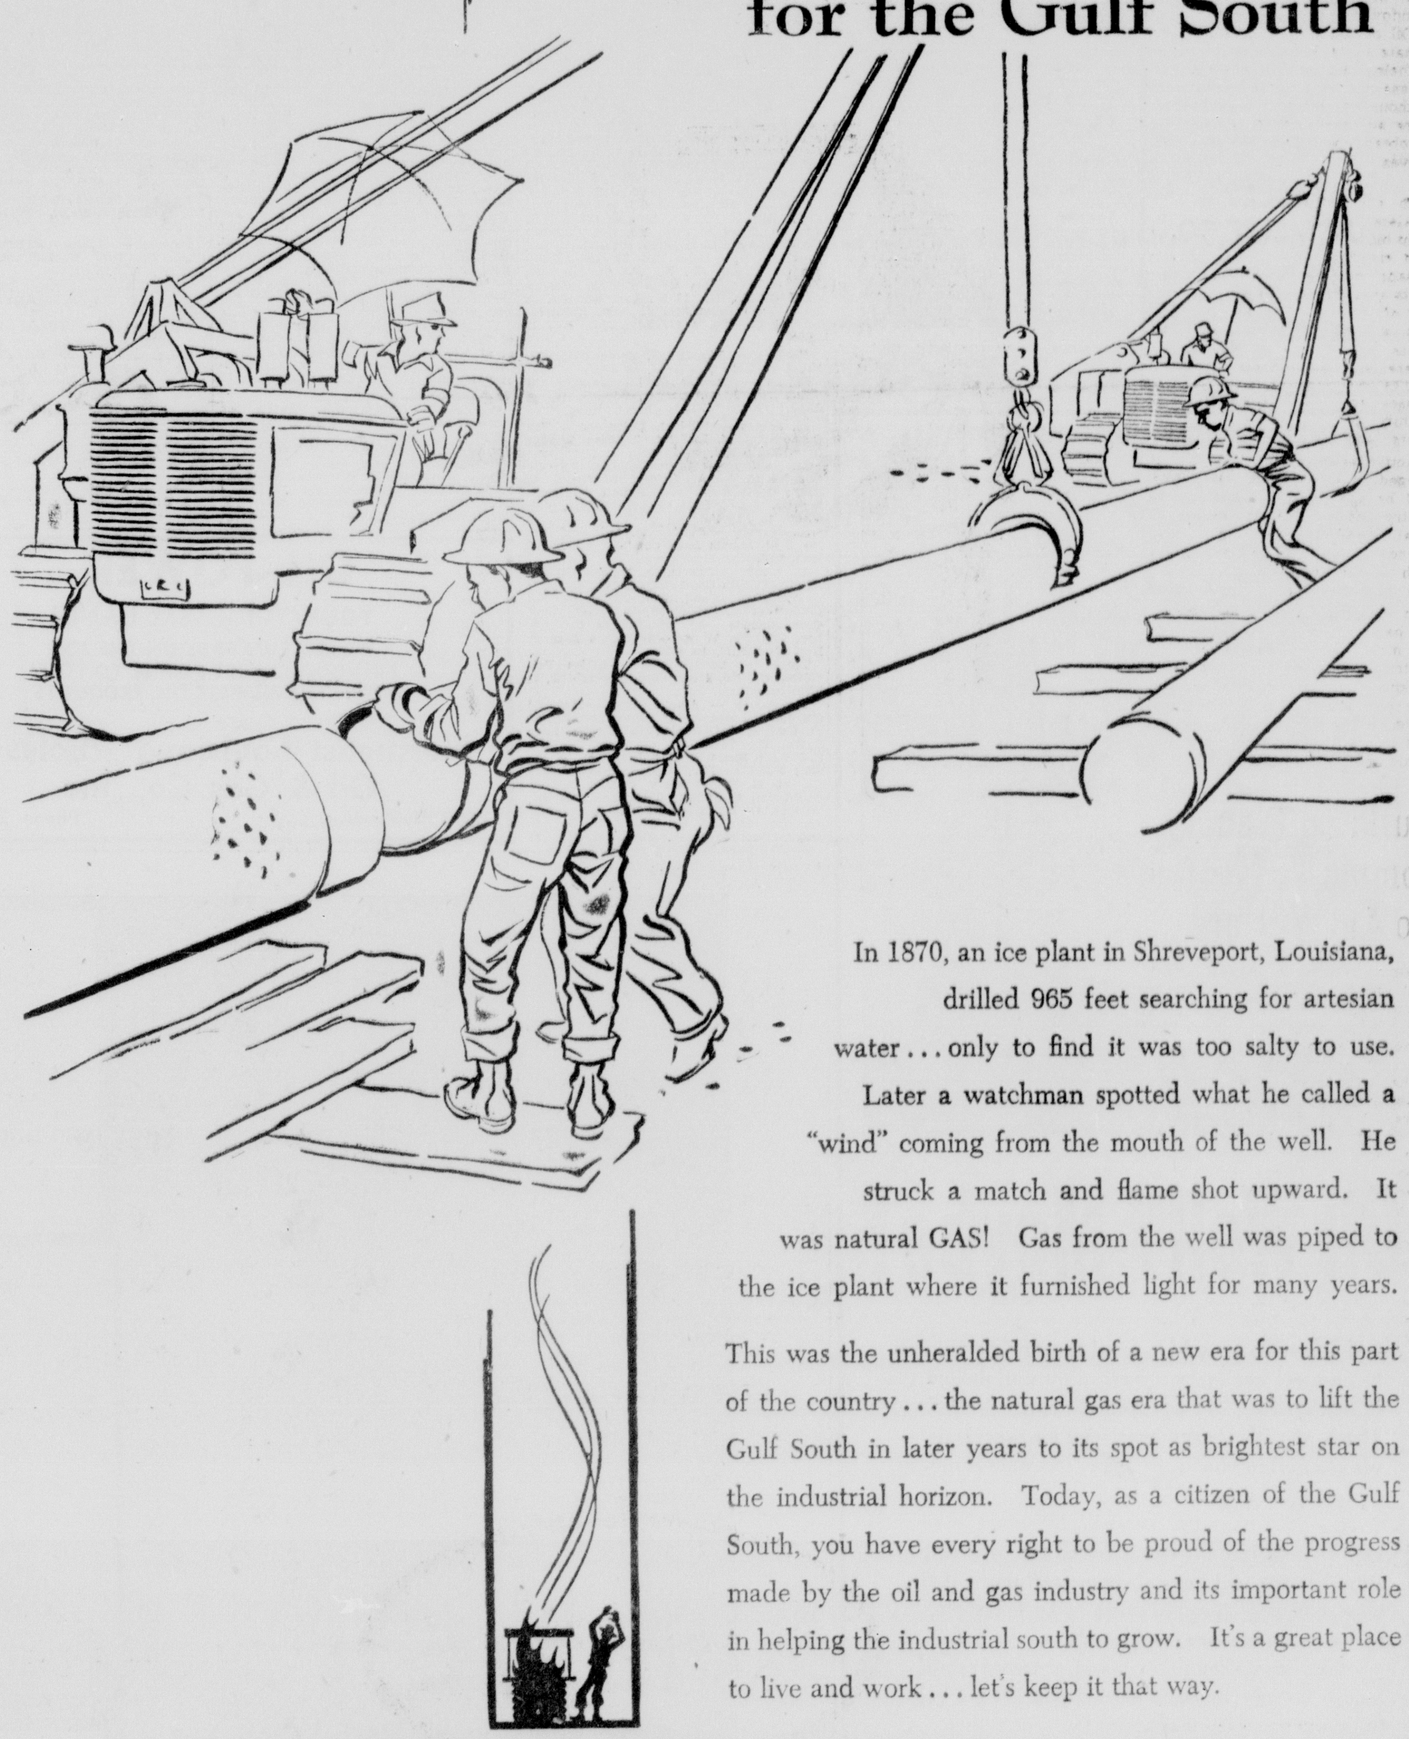
The "Wind" that flamed a new era for the Gulf South



In 1870, an ice plant in Shreveport, Louisiana, drilled 965 feet searching for artesian water . . . only to find it was too salty to use. Later a watchman spotted what he called a "wind" coming from the mouth of the well. He struck a match and flame shot upward. It was natural GAS! Gas from the well was piped to the ice plant where it furnished light for many years.

This was the unheralded birth of a new era for this part of the country . . . the natural gas era that was to lift the Gulf South in later years to its spot as brightest star on the industrial horizon. Today, as a citizen of the Gulf South, you have every right to be proud of the progress made by the oil and gas industry and its important role in helping the industrial south to grow. It's a great place to live and work . . . let's keep it that way.

Edward R. Murrow Takes Long, Hard Look At His Own Television Program

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK — UP—Ed Murrow, almost as indefatigable in his visits to the American home as the Fuller brushman, took a long, hard look at "Person to Person" Tuesday and decided "it's a damn sight more difficult to ask questions than to answer them."

The affable newsman, now in his fourth season on the CBS-TV show, has run an elegant gamut in his interviewing chores. Among others he has played the question-and-answer game with Marilyn Monroe and Archbishop Richard Cushing, Groucho Marx and Dag Hammarskjold, Yogi Berr and Harry Truman.

He has traded gentle banter with boxers, a letter carrier, musicians, a model, an authoress and on one singular occasion, the complaint adjuster at a New York department store. But Murrow, a veteran reporter, admitted that swapping verbal punches isn't as easy as it looks.

"I'm obliged to behave as though I was actually a guest in the house," said Murrow. "Since I am a guest, that rules out rude or embarrassing questions.

"Occasionally, the talk gets so informal that it almost gets away from me. When I had Jesse Owens on a recent show, we went up a side street and even I didn't know where we were going."

"Person to Person" is unrehearsed. Murrow, of course, is briefed on the background of each guest and he talks to them about 15 minutes before the show goes on, but no specific questions are discussed.

"The guests know what the general line of questioning will be," said Murrow. "They know I'm going to ask about their kids or today's ball game or some such thing, but that's all. My aim is to keep the show informal, maintain a comfortable pace and to ask the sort of questions that will be interesting to the maximum number of people.

"One thing's for sure, I've had all kinds of guests on the program and I guess I've asked more questions on more subjects that I know nothing about than anyone in the business."

At one time, man thought natural gas was a mysterious god who had to be appeased. Today, it's man's servant, supplying the heat that cooks every meal in 33 million U. S. homes.

It's a fact that:

Odds are 966 to 1 against finding an Oil Field that will supply U.S. Oil needs for more than 7 Days!

● Yet in spite of the great risks involved U. S. oilmen continue to find more oil than the nation uses up.

Searching for oil is one of the world's riskiest businesses. And it is only one of the many things oilmen must do to keep your family car rolling and to meet other record demands for fuels and lubricants. Here's our pledge that as part of America's competitive, progressive oil industry we'll continue to be on the job—for you and the nation.

Teachers To Study

City Elementary Schools Turn Out Monday Afternoon

Van D. Odom, superintendent of the Monroe City Schools, has announced that the teachers of the city elementary schools will hold the first meeting of the in-service study program for the school year 1955-1956, Monday afternoon at the Barkdull Faulk School. Children of the elementary grades will be dismissed at noon so the teachers may devote the entire afternoon to the workshop which will begin at one o'clock.

All schools of the city system are participating in a three year program of study for curriculum improvement sponsored by the southern association's program in elementary education. This program is designed to build tentative courses of study on all grade levels in all subject fields to guide the teachers in their work.

The current study is organized on grade levels. Each group will discuss problems presented by all subjects. Four meetings will be held during the year, each specializing in certain fields of subject matter. At later meetings consultants will be included.

The Neville High School in-service study will not be held in connection with that of the elementary grades this year. The first meeting of the high school teachers will be on October 18. Later meetings will be the same date as the elementary groups but not united in any way.

Capitol Transit Co. Takes Legal Round

Pulaski Chancellor Guy S. Williams granted a temporary restraining order yesterday that prevents state labor Commissioner Clarence Thornbrough from ruling on the case. The drivers seek unused sick leave and vacation pay allowances.

Williams will decide later whether the injunction should be made permanent.

R. W. Irby Issues Platform In His Appeal To Voters

Announcing today as a candidate for re-election to the Police Jury from Ward Three, Robert W. (Bob) Irby issued a formal statement.

Irby is presently serving his first four year term as a member of the jury.

Irby stated in his formal announcement: "I am most grateful to the people of my ward for giving me the privilege to serve them in the Police Jury these four years. The knowledge I have gained thus far will enable me to serve them better the coming four years as I feel that this experience in office has been of great benefit to me.

"During my tenure of office I have served on the purchasing committee, courthouse and other important committees."

He said he believes his efforts in getting better roads and other benefits in the parish "should warrant serious consideration in re-electing me to the Police Jury."

"I will run as an independent candidate and will work with the other elected parish and state officials to the best of my ability."

Lawyer Escapes Serious Injury

CROSSETT, Oct. 8 (Special) — Ovid T. Switzer, local attorney and leading business man, narrowly escaped injury when he failed to make the sharp turn on highway 82 at the railroad crossing just outside the Crossett City limits.

Switzer, driving a new automobile, was returning from a meeting in Little Rock. His car was demolished.

According to Switzer, he was at the dangerous intersection before he realized it and was unable to make the turn. In an attempt to right the car, he turned off the main highway artery onto a gravel road. The loose gravel made the car skid, turning it over.

SHORTY, YOU CAN SING IF YOU WANT TO! IT'S MY BRIDAL SHOWER!

WHAT'S THE PLOT, JIM?

AS SOON AS THE LICENSE BECOMES VALID, WE'LL DRIVE TO SOME NEARBY TOWN AND BE MARRIED—THEN TRY TO HAVE A SORT OF HONEYMOON BEFORE I'M DUE BACK AT WORK!

WHILE THESE PLEASANTRIES HAVE BEEN GOING ON, STEVE CANYON HAS ARRIVED AT THE LOCAL AIRFIELD

HE DOES NOT ATTEMPT TO TELEPHONE SUMMER OLSON... INSTEAD HE HIRES A TAXICAB AND GOES TO A LOCAL HOTEL...

LATER HE RIDES TO THE PARK ACROSS FROM THE DINER WHERE THE WEDDING PARTY IS GATHERED

CLOSED - Private Party

STEVE SEEMS TO MAKE SOME SORT OF DECISION... HE RE-ENTERS THE TAXICAB AND GIVES THE DRIVER AN ORDER...
